

now

now

now

now

now

now

now

now

now

now

now

now

now

now

now

now

now

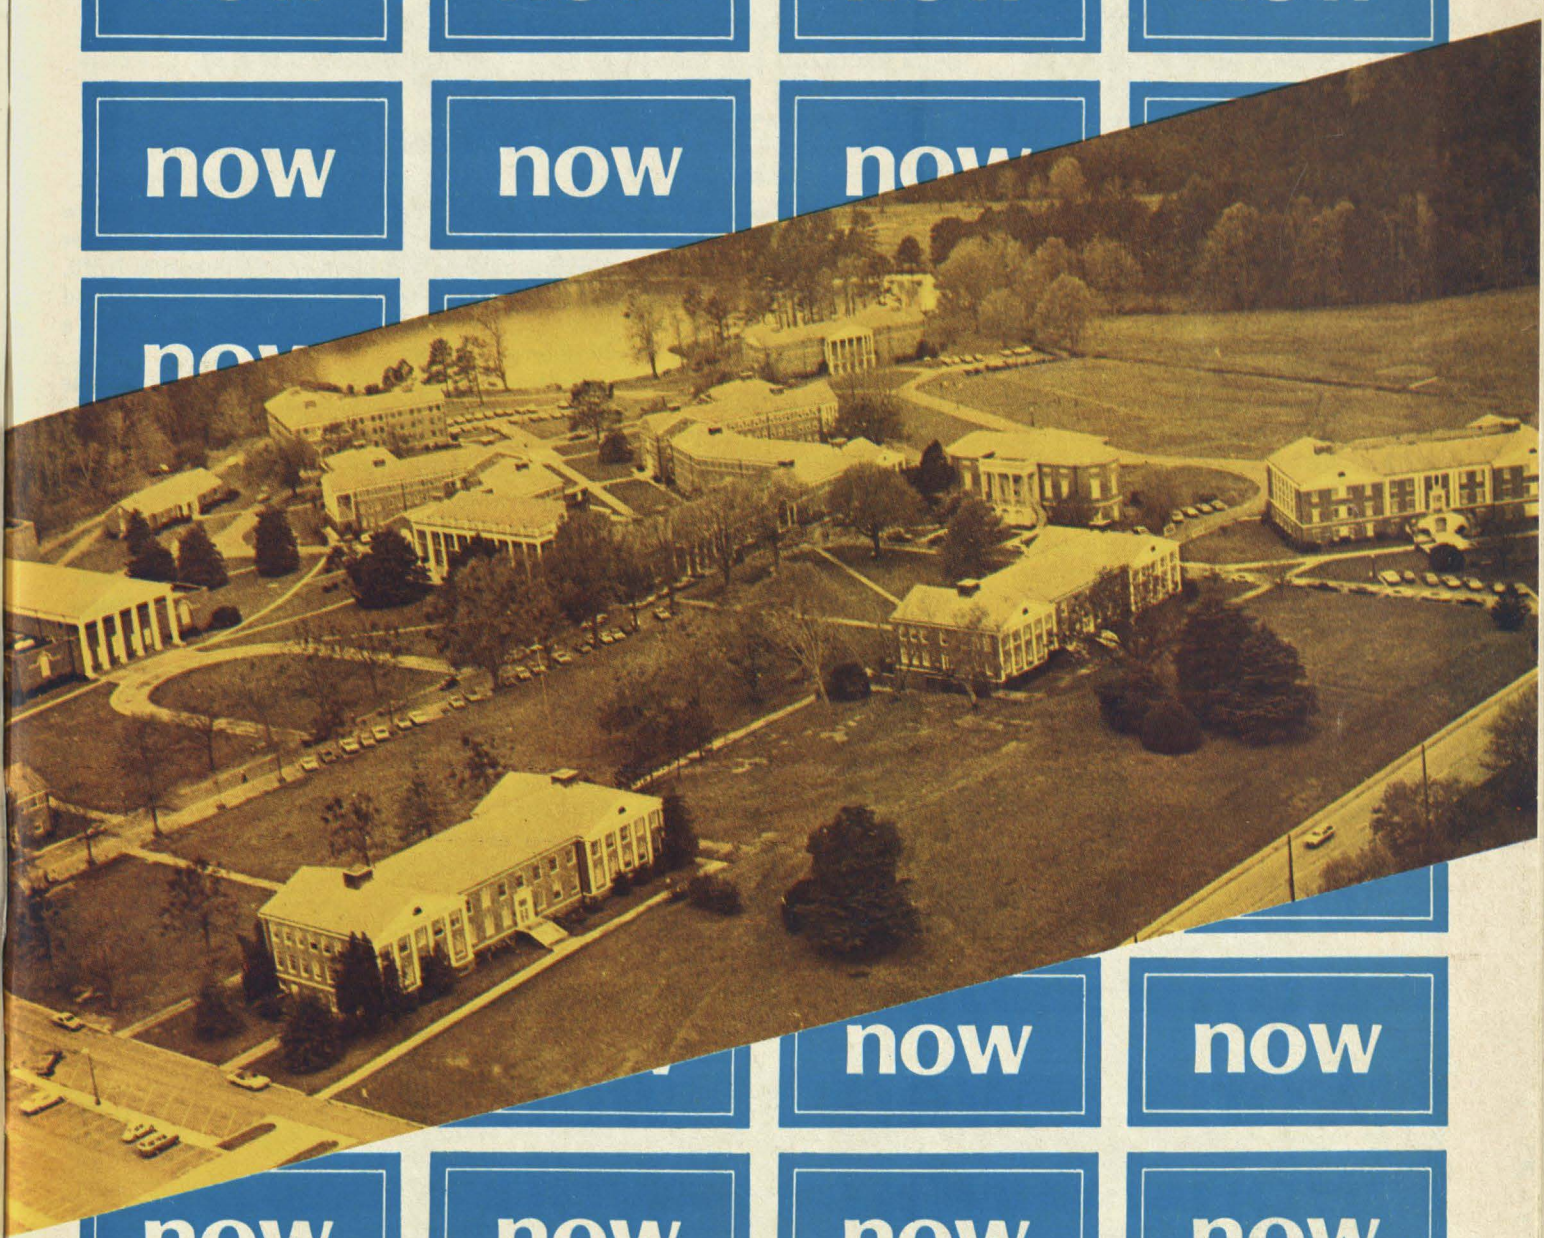

now

now

now

now

now

U.S. POSTAL SERVICE STATEMENT OF OWNERSHIP, MANAGEMENT AND CIRCULATION (Required by 39 U.S.C. 3685)
1. TITLE OF PUBLICATION Wesleyan College NOW		2. DATE OF FILING 10-6-1976
3. FREQUENCY OF ISSUE Four times a year, Oct., Jan., Mar., May	A. NO. OF ISSUES PUBLISHED ANNUALLY	B. ANNUAL SUBSCRIPTION PRICE
4. LOCATION OF HEADQUARTERS OR GENERAL BUSINESS OFFICE (Not printers) Wesleyan College, 4760 Forsyth Rd., Macon, Ga. 31201
5. LOCATION OF THE HEADQUARTERS OR GENERAL BUSINESS OFFICE OF PUBLISHERS (Not printers) Same
6. NAMES AND COMPLETE ADDRESSES OF PUBLISHER, EDITOR, AND MANAGING EDITOR
PUBLISHER (Name and Address) Wesleyan Alumnae Assn.
EDITOR (Name and Address) Mrs. Freda K. Nadler, 560 Wesleyan Drive, Macon, Ga. 31204
MANAGING EDITOR (Name and Address)
7. OWNER (If owned by a corporation, its name and address must be stated and also immediately thereunder the names and addresses of stockholders owning or holding 1 percent or more of total amount of stock. If not owned by a corporation, the names and addresses of the individual owners must be given. If owned by a partnership or other unincorporated firm, its name and address, as well as that of each individual must be given.)
NAME		ADDRESS
Wesleyan College		Macon, Ga. 31201
8. KNOWN BONDHOLDERS, MORTGAGEES, AND OTHER SECURITY HOLDERS OWNING OR HOLDING 1 PERCENT OR MORE OF TOTAL AMOUNT OF BONDS, MORTGAGES OR OTHER SECURITIES (If there are none, so state)
NAME		ADDRESS
9. FOR COMPLETION BY NONPROFIT ORGANIZATIONS AUTHORIZED TO MAIL AT SPECIAL RATES (Section 132.122, PSN) The purpose, function, and nonprofit status of this organization and the exempt status for Federal income tax purposes (Check one)
<input type="checkbox"/> HAVE NOT CHANGED DURING PRECEDING 12 MONTHS <input type="checkbox"/> HAVE CHANGED DURING PRECEDING 12 MONTHS (If changed, publisher must submit explanation of change with this statement.)
10. EXTENT AND NATURE OF CIRCULATION		AVERAGE NO. COPIES EACH ISSUE DURING PRECEDING 12 MONTHS	ACTUAL NO. COPIES OF SINGLE ISSUE PUBLISHED NEAREST TO FILING DATE
A. TOTAL NO. COPIES PRINTED (Net Press Run)		11, 320	13,000
B. PAID CIRCULATION
1. SALES THROUGH DEALERS AND CARRIERS, STREET VENDORS AND COUNTER SALES		0	0
2. MAIL SUBSCRIPTIONS		8, 390	8,490
C. TOTAL PAID CIRCULATION (Sum of 10B1 and 10B2)		8, 390	8,490
D. FREE DISTRIBUTION BY MAIL, CARRIER OR OTHER MEANS SAMPLES, COMPLIMENTARY, AND OTHER FREE COPIES		200	200
E. TOTAL DISTRIBUTION (Sum of C and D)		8, 590	8,690
F. COPIES NOT DISTRIBUTED		2,740	4,310
1. OFFICE USE, LEFT OVER, UNACCOUNTED, SPOILED AFTER PRINTING		0	0
2. RETURNS FROM NEWS AGENTS
G. TOTAL (Sum of E, F1 and 2—should equal net press run shown in A)
11. I certify that the statements made by me above are correct and complete.		SIGNATURE AND TITLE OF EDITOR, PUBLISHER, BUSINESS MANAGER, OR OWNER Freda K. Nadler
12. FOR COMPLETION BY PUBLISHERS MAILING AT THE REGULAR RATES (Section 132.121, Postal Service Manual)
39 U. S. C. 3626 provides in pertinent part: "No person who would have been entitled to mail matter under former section 4359 of this title shall mail such matter at the rates provided under this subsection unless he files annually with the Postal Service a written request for permission to mail matter at such rates."
In accordance with the provisions of this statute, I hereby request permission to mail the publication named in Item 1 at the phased postage rates presently authorized by 39 U. S. C. 3626.
SIGNATURE AND TITLE OF EDITOR, PUBLISHER, BUSINESS MANAGER, OR OWNER Freda K. Nadler

Look Where We're Going!

At Wesleyan a new term came in with the New Year. Back on a traditional two-semester schedule classes will be over at the end of April, giving those interested in summer jobs a head start. Others may continue their studies at a short term in May.

Students returning to campus after the holidays began their programs in the newly renovated Tate Building, where over half a million dollars has been spent to make it modern and beautiful, not excelled anywhere.

For the third straight year Wesleyan has enjoyed a slight increase in enrollment. Teachers' salaries were raised this year.

"The spirit on campus is good", said President Strickland. "Our alumnae and friends are continuing to step forward and give us generous support. We have every reason to feel optimistic as 1977 begins."

"Look Where We're Going" is the theme for Alumnae Weekend, April 15-16, 1977. President Strickland is to be the speaker on Saturday. Susan Woodward Walker and her committee are planning interest and excitement, including surprises.

Where is Wesleyan going? Up, up, up!

WESLEYAN COLLEGE NOW is published by the Wesleyan Alumnae Assn. four times a year, Oct., Jan., March and May. Office: Wesleyan College, 4760 Forsyth Rd., Macon, Ga. 31201. Subscription price $1.00 to non-members; sent to all members, for which $1.00 is deducted from their contribution to Loyalty Fund. Second Class postage paid at Macon, Ga. 31201.

Editor: FREDA KAPLAN NADLER

Photography: J. O. BUD PAINE
LINDA PLOTT

Alumnae Director: FRANCES BRUCE VAN HORN
Assistant to Director: ALICE DOMINGOS
Alumnae President: SANDRA BELL SHIPP

A Challenge — — — and a Challenge

Veiled in anonymity, like the heroine of an opera, a devoted Wesleyanne last year issued a challenge to all alumnae. She pledged $1000 for each percentage point of increase of alumnae donors over the year before.

This 1975-76 Challenger has finally allowed her identity to be revealed. She is Jane Galt Bailor, '15, of Atlanta. Because of her there was a dramatic increase in the giving by all alumnae.

Now a new Challenger has been led to pledge herself for the year 1976-77, issuing a different appeal to alumnae and also to parents of students. This year's Challenger is Julia Munroe Woodward, '34, of Quincy, Fla.

Julia is challenging alumnae to increase their contributions to the annual Loyalty Fund, or if not already a donor, to become one, with the pledge that she will contribute $10.00 for every gift increased by $10.00 or more, or $10 or more given by a new donor. Pledges are due by June 30, 1977.

According to Rosalind Allison Burns, chairman of the annual Loyalty Fund, gifts of all sizes are important. Much of Wesleyan's unrestricted funds come from the Loyalty Fund; it is used for scholarships, library, faculty and staff salaries, program development, maintenance.

Jane Bailor, one of eleven children, entered Wesleyan at 15. She was interested in Latin and history, sat together in class with

Jane Galt Bailor

Mei-Ling when the Soong sisters were on campus. Though she went on to Shorter and Columbia after only a year at Wesleyan, she remained a loyal and loving daughter of the Oldest and Best.

Her late husband, Dr. Edwin M. Bailor, was a distinguished professor of psychology. He taught for many years at Dartmouth College, was the author of books and articles in his field. They travelled throughout the world, filling his speaking engagements.

Within the last few weeks she has established a new endowed scholarship fund named the Jane Galt and Edwin M. Bailor Scholarship Fund. "Jane Bailor places high value on education, and on Wesleyan, especially," said Dr. Don Stanton, vice president for development. "And so does Julia Woodward. We appreciate their loyalty and support, and the generosity of the many who responded to their challenge."

Challenger Julia, husband Bob D., daughter Susan, and Otey Walker

Julia, a Trustee of the College, is one of three sisters and mother of three daughters who were graduated from Wesleyan. Three generations of the Munroe family have provided students and financial backing; they are responsible, among other things, for the Munroe Chair of Modern Languages.

This latest Challenge is but another evidence of Julia's deep commitment to the welfare of Wesleyan. When Dr. Stanton called her to ask if she would follow in Mrs. Bailor's footsteps and serve as Challenger in the year ahead she was assisting in Swine flu vaccinations. She had earned the title "Woman of the Year" for her service to Girl Scouts, hospital auxiliary, and other civic projects. But Wesleyan is her first love. Julia is a member of the College Development Committee, and of the ad hoc Enrollment Committee (she is one of Wesleyan's greatest recruiters of students; she has brought carloads to campus from Quincy and other areas of Florida).

Her husband, "Bob D.", has served in the Florida legislature, is prominent in his area of the state.

Her daughter, Susan Woodward Walker (Mrs. Otey Walker, of Atlanta), is first vice president of the Wesleyan Alumnae Assn. She teaches biology at Mercer University in Atlanta.

Sunday in Plains, Ga.

"That day in Plains was the high spot of my summer", said Thelma Strickland, wife of Wesleyan's president, pictured here. The Editor of Wesleyan College NOW, Freda K. Nadler, is shown shaking hands with the man who would be sworn in as President of the United States on Jan. 20, 1977. Jimmy Carter, a guest on campus during Governor's Honors program, while serving his last term as governor, was caught by the photographer in an informal pose with Dr. Strickland (next page). Other high spots in Mrs. Strickland's summer were two operations, from which she has recovered nicely. The trip to Plains took place the week before she went in for surgery.

Church services were about to begin when Thelma Strickland and I were ushered into a pew down front. Thelma preceded me, and as I squeezed past the ladies already seated, I inadvertently brushed against the man's arm stretched on the pew in front of us.

"Oh, I'm so sorry I bumped your arm", I whispered.

"That all right", he said, turning around.

It was Jimmy Carter!

His kind blue eyes, his warm, winning smile made it "all right".

Next to him sat the three women in his life, his wife Rosalynn, their daughter Amy, and his mother, Miss Lillian, as familiar now to the American public as their favorite movie stars.

For the next hour Thelma and I worshiped in their church in close proximity to the next First Family of the United States.

In our travels earlier in the summer many people had asked about Jimmy Carter. Questions focused on his religion more than on his political philosophy. All through New England, where Thelma and her husband, Dr. W. Earl Strickland, president of Wesleyan College, had vacationed, the populace knew he was a "born again" Baptist. What did that mean? Was this the religion of the South? They were a little leary of it, they said. In Minneapolis and Chicago, where I had spent several weeks, I encountered the same doubts and misgivings.

Thelma is a Methodist; I am Reform Jewish. While loyal to ours we are both interested in other faiths, attending varied services in our own and other lands, glad, too, for opportunities to learn the beliefs and practices of foreign students who come to Wesleyan.

Thus, it was not just curiosity that caused us to choose a Sunday, the second in August, to drive down to Plains, Georgia. We hoped to get there in time to visit Sunday School, usually taught by Jimmy Carter, to hear him on morality and justice and goodness.

We left Macon at 8:40 a.m. in my new little yellow car. There was sparse traffic on the freshly-surfaced road that flowed between the rolling plains. The cotton fields were green, studded with blossoms; corn stalks stood in high rows, parched brown.

At Americus we inquired the way to Plains. In no time we turned onto Main street, half a dozen stores facing a railroad track.

A polite black man directed us to the church, a block away. We parked across from it and joined the good-natured crowd waiting at the side entrance of the Plains Baptist Church.

Never have I seen so many cameras! Great twin-cylinder machines were slung on the shoulders or bounced against the chests of TV and newspaper photographers. Others were clutched by tourists, many of whom held on to small children.

A man from CBS told us that Sunday School, which Jimmy had not taught, was just over and that they hoped he would come out on his way to church. Instead, a little girl with long strawberry hair, wearing a printed red dress and over-size horn-rim glasses, skipped down the steps.

"It's Amy! It's Amy!"

Shutters began to click. Everyone wanted a picture of the most photographed child in America before she flitted away.

By then it was almost 11. Jimmy would not appear now until 12, after church.

We headed to the front entrance. Three men stood in the vestibule; one of them ushered us inside the sparkling white sanctuary and to two empty seats down front.

When I recovered from my momentary chagrin at brushing the arm of the probable next president, I realized that the lady whose shoulder he cradled was Rosalynn. I leaned over to speak to her, reminding her that I was Alumnae Editor at Wesleyan College and that Thelma Strickland was the wife of OUR president.

"Oh, yes, I know", she whispered, smiling. She wore a yellow jacket dress. Amy was ensconced beside her, and directly in front of me was Miss Lillian, in sky blue. Her cheeks were crumpled rose petals.

I tried not to stare at any of them, but Jimmy was in my line of vision. He seemed leaner and younger than his pictures on TV. He had on the ubiquitous TV blue shirt, a blue-gray suit, a diamond-figured tie. Baseball sunburn gave him a healthy, outdoor color.

The organ had been playing, the choir had marched in. A tall man was speaking a welcome and was calling on "A Layman" to give the Invocation.

Jimmy Carter—Deacon, Sunday School teacher, member of the Congregation—rose and stood at his seat on the aisle.

He spoke to his Heavenly Father in a tone natural, almost conversational. He prayed long and easily, being thankful, asking for forgiveness, for strength and guidance.

"Love God and the man who stands in front of you", he had written in his book. At that moment I found it easy to do.

All four Carters joined with the Congregation in singing hymns. The Rev. Mr. Bruce Edwards, a pleasant-faced man, invited the children down for special worship. Amy's mother smoothed the part in her daughter's hair as she passed by.

The Pastor told about some youngsters who had broken a window with a ball; some had fled, he said, two had remained to bear the responsibility. He pleaded with them always to do the right thing. The boys and girls trooped back to their seats, and Amy sat down beside her mother, snuggling against her. Jimmy, his arm still resting lightly in back of his wife, tweaked a couple of strands of Amy's hair and fondled her shoulder.

There was no Apostle's Creed, no responsive reading, but Bibles were opened and the Pastor read from James 1. . . the verses enjoining the Twelve Tribes to be not just hearers of the word, but doers . . . that it is acts, not just faith that counts. Jimmy Carter marked one of the passages with his pen.

The sermon was brief — no one of us is all good, without faults, we must ask forgiveness and strive to do better.

In exactly one hour it was over, the singing, the collection of tithes, the benediction. It had all been decorous and dignified.

The ladies picked up their large white pocketbooks, we all rose. In a split second Jimmy Carter had disappeared.

Rosalynn Carter turned to speak to Thelma and me. I told her I had a box of cookies for her daughter-in-law, Caron (Mrs. Chip), whom I had known when she was an outstanding student at Wesleyan. (Caron Griffin, '73) Caron was in Hawkinsville, said Rosalynn, but she'd be glad to take the cookies for her. She'd be outside as soon as she welcomed some new members and spoke to the young couple headed for Japan as missionaries. I shook hands with the Pastor at the door and sprinted to my Yellow Bird to get the tiny tin box.

I had last seen Rosalynn in Baltimore, at a vote-seeking party in her honor. I did not gain a glimpse of Jimmy in Maryland, when a hundred of us "Georgians for Jimmy Carter" (The Peanut Brigade) had taken a chartered plane, paying our own expenses out of Atlanta, in an effort to influence voters.

Jimmy was in town twice during our week of politicking, but we got lost on the Beltway the night he spoke at a veterans' meeting, and we overslept the morning he greeted factory workers at 5 a.m.

He did not appear at our dreary non-Victory Party that rainy last night but spoke to us by wire from another city, thanking us for our efforts.

We had felt pretty dejected, but a miracle had happened and now Jimmy Carter was leading all polls, and his little town of Plains had been visited by the biggest and the brightest in the land.

Was it only about ten years since he had first come to Wesleyan for the Governor's Honors Program? The summer session for Georgia's top high school students was dear to Jimmy's heart. No one dreamed on that and subsequent visits to the campus that the soft-spoken, sandy-colored man with the big smile would ever be seeking the country's top post.

The week before the New York convention the boys and girls of GHP had held their own model convention, and nominated Jimmy Carter unanimously on the first ballot. He hoped to come to them at Wesleyan, but his tight schedule prevented it. The kids drowned their disappointment at dinner in huge servings of a new dessert, Jimmy Carter Jubilee—Georgia peaches and ice cream, topped with chocolate syrup and salted peanuts.

Now, at noon that Sunday, he was leisurely making his way through the cheering crowd of visitors.

"Good luck!" they said. "Good luck, Jimmy!"

He was heading straight for me and my box of cookies. Would the Secret Service think it was a bomb? Two cars, inching across the church yard, stopped close to me. I thrust the box into the hands of a driver. "These are for Mrs. Carter", I said.

I was dazzled by that gentle smile, now so close to me. "I'm so sorry I bumped your arm in church", I gulped.

"That's all right", he said again. "I'm so glad you came."

"Mrs. Strickland is here, too", I managed, and nodded to where she stood, in the shade of a tree. He went to her and they chatted about Governor's Honors Program and Wesleyan.

Then I spied Rosalynn, at the News of Wesleyan

President W. Earl Strickland served as the 1976 Christmas Seal chairman for Bibb County, heading the drive for funds by the Georgia Lung Assn.

NOW

Nelle Edwards Smith, '34, Macon, and her husband Rosser have presented to the Alumnae Museum room a display case which belonged to Rosser's father, the late Leon P. Smith. It was used by Dean Smith to hold his collection of rocks during his long tenure at Wesleyan.

NOW

Dr. Jacob Quiambao, Manget Professor of World Religions and Missions at Wesleyan, is the new president of the Macon Council on World Affairs. He succeeded Eleanor Adams Lane, '58.

NOW

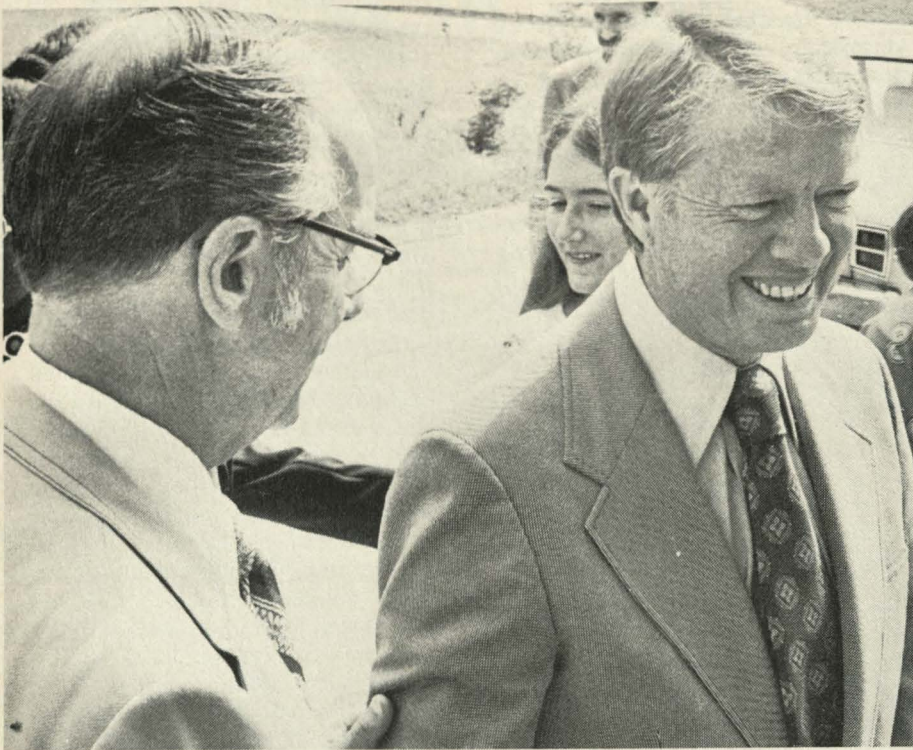

Patti Eakes, '76, Tallahassee, Fla., won first place in the Georgia Music Teachers Assn. annual collegiate artist voice competition in Atlanta. Topping 16 singers from Georgia colleges, she is the sixth winner from Wesleyan in the competition's 12-year history. Competition began last spring, when she was a student of Prof. Norman McLean. She will compete in the regional meet in Feb.

NOW

Dr. Judith Prince, director of counseling at Wesleyan, was keynote speaker when the S.C. College Personnel Assn. met at Myrtle Beach last Oct. Her topic was "Tomorrow's Higher Education". Marjorie Bowen, '71, dean of students at Coker College, is an officer of the group.

NOW

An exhibit of ten "tapestry-like" paintings by Libby Bailey, new art instructor at Wesleyan, was held last fall in the East Gallery of Porter Auditorium. Some of them were done during extended study in Italy.

top of the stairs. "Give me back my cookies," I begged the man at the car. He had already turned them over to a Secret Service man!

Caron, at home with her parents, the Ben Griffins, would get the cookies, she assured me.

I had first met Rosalynn when she was Georgia's First Lady. It was at a tea in the governor's Mansion, given by Atlanta Wesleyan alumnae to hear Miss Lillian tell of her experience in India with the Peace Corps. Then, as now, she was understated, charming, and poised, a compact little person well equipped to be the nation's First Lady.

I became aware of her strength when I served as a hostess at a reception given for her in Macon in December. She greeted me warmly as Caron's friend and autographed a copy of "Why Not the Best?" Then she had made a brief speech in firm and engaging terms of her faith in her husband and in his ability to be president. In the months that followed she became his number one campaigner.

Jimmy had reached the waiting car and his wife tore herself away from admirers to join him, with me in tow. I heard him saying goodbye to Amy, who was going off with another little girl.

"Y'all be good, hear?"

That parting admonition to Amy—to all of us Americans—rang in my ears throughout the afternoon. We chatted with Sen. and Mrs. Hugh Carter . . . we had lunch at the three-day-old Back Porch restaurant presided over by Angeline Cunningham Stevens (her mother had graduated from Wesleyan in 1917, had known the Soong sisters there). . . we went by the Carter HQ in the old train station and cadged an autograph from Miss Lillian, enthroned in a rocking chair . . . we saw Caron and Chip's mobile home, and Jimmy's street barricaded and protected by police and SS men . . . finally, we went by the church to try to find a bulletin of the morning's service. A sole white leaflet rested near the foot of the steps.

It was quiet there, not a rustle in the oak and pecan trees . . . clean and healing and strengthening . . . "all right" . . .

We could understand, we said, why Jimmy Carter, on a dizzying schedule of preparation for the biggest job in the world, would want to come back each week to his own home town in Georgia, to his own family, his friends, his church . . . to have his faith in his God, in himself, and in his fellow man born again.

Loved Long Since and Lost Awhile

I was about six years old when I first knew Kitty Cater. The Methodist Conference had appointed my father to the pastorate of the lovely old white-spired church in Perry, Georgia, and my friendship with Kitty began approximately thirty minutes after our family alighted at the little railroad depot, to be met by the Chairman of the Board of Stewards in his shiny surrey with the fringe on top.

My father and Kitty's had been long-time friends, and my mother and hers had grown up in the same town, so when we arrived at the parsonage the Cater family in full force were among the parishioners there to greet us.

Kitty's age matched up with mine and her sister Helen's with my sister Mary's, so during the years we were in Perry the four of us constantly were underfoot in both houses. One summer the youngest Cater daughter had been gravely ill, and her parents took her to Lookout Mountain for the benefit of several weeks in a cooler climate. While they were away Kitty and Helen stayed with us and we children were so delighted over this continuous houseparty we were not properly appreciative when little Jane's return to robust health broke it up.

Kitty was a few months older than I, and at six that bonus in age added enviable prestige and sophistication. She was my pilot through the shoals of starting to school where virtually everybody else was a stranger to me. Years later she acted in the same capacity when I transferred to Wesleyan in my Sophomore year. Kitty had been there as a Freshman the year before, and there was nobody—except the rankest new girls—who didn't know and love the vivaciously winsome Kitty, including a boy she was dating.

Baxter Jones was a cousin of mine, though we never had met. I am sure he couldn't have cared less about looking up an unknown relative, sight unseen, until he found out I was a friend of Kitty's and therefore might serve as a friend at court—or at courting.

Once the two had a minor tiff;

Baxter had written Kitty a letter to try to mend matters and she had not answered it. When Baxter ran athwart a real problem he didn't trust his luck to lower eschelons, cousins or whatever; he preferred taking his case straight to the Commander-in-Chief. At Wesleyan this personage was Mrs. Burks, who looked like a Duchess and ruled somewhat according to the laws of the Medes and Persians. To say Baxter's tactics were unprecedented is understatement.

Kitty got a portentous message to report immediately to Mrs. Burks' office. When she stood before the tribunal, trying to think what transgression had prompted the summons, Mrs. Burks picked up a telegram from her desk and looked at it solemnly. "Carolyn", she said in her magisterial voice, "This telegram has just come to me. Why have you not replied to Baxter Jones's letter?"

There was no question of the reply being promptly sent, and it must have contained all the right answers, for they lived happy-ever-after.

Kitty was notably talented in dramatics, and one of her readings was an unforgettable favorite. It was demanded as an encore for recitals in the drama department at Wesleyan, and at civic club meetings where she was invited to speak, and at private gatherings when she could be persuaded to give it. The ones who had heard it before were the ones most insistent on hearing it again.

The protagonist in the piece was a small boy trying to tell a funny story, but was so convulsed by its absurdity he could get out only a few words before bursting into gales of laughter. Kitty's rendition sounded so spontaneous, and was so contagious, audiences invariably joined her in rib-holding hilarity. It seemed impossible that the laughter was not a natural rippling out from her own merry spirit—her joie de vivre that lasted throughout her life.

At the time of our twenty-fifth class anniversary Linda Lane had a reception for all the Reunion Classes in her lovely Japanese pergola. Kitty and I went to the party together, reminiscing along the way about friends of quarter of a century back whom we were looking forward to seeing there. But as it turned out, to our disappointed amusement, Kitty and I, who lived about three blocks apart in Macon, were the only members of our class to re-une.

When tragedy came to Kitty and Baxter in the death of their older son and his wife in an airplane accident in France, their deep faith strengthened them to accept together even this crushing sorrow with courageous fortitude.

In late May of 1976 I was going away for a month or more, and the afternoon before I left I went to see Kitty. She had been very ill, but that day she was feeling stronger and more alert. As I was leaving I said, "I'll see you again as soon as I get back home."

With a sweet, enigmatic little smile on her lips and in her eyes she said, "Will you, Betty? Really?"

I think we both knew we were saying goodbye.

— Elizabeth Davenport Plant

Operation Tate Completed

Tate Hall, which has been undergoing up-dating and face-lifting for some months, should be ready for use by the beginning of the second semester in February, says President W. Earl Strickland.

By then the giant crane visible from Forsyth road, which the building faces, will have been removed, and a long-felt need fulfilled.

Improvements include installation of air conditioning, addition of stairwells and other facilities to meet the latest fire code, rearrangement of partitions (walls) to provide modern suites of faculty offices and to meet modern educational needs in different types of teaching facilities, with carpeting and new furnishings throughout. The cost totals $560,000.

Tate was in the first group of buildings to be erected on what was then called the "Greater Wesleyan campus at Rivoli". It was named for Col. Sam Tate, of Tate, Ga., home of the famed Georgia marble works. Because of Col. Tate the building is trimmed in marble; it has marble steps and columns, window and door sills, even the partitions in its bathrooms. For a number of years before the Candler building became its home, the Alumnae Office occupied Tate. The President's Office is located there, and the Dean's and the Registrar's, among others. It also houses the Business Office.

"This is a major improvement of our campus facilities", said Dr. Strickland, "similar to what was done several years ago to Taylor, another of the original buildings at Rivoli."

Noted historian, Dr. Henry Steele Commager, Lamar Lecturer and speaker at Fall Convocation, with President Strickland

Student alumnae, Nancy Noble and Janet Ort, residents of Banks Hall, at planting service in memory of Evelyn Wright Banks, with Elizabeth Banks St. John and Maryella Camp, of Newnan, and Dr. Strickland

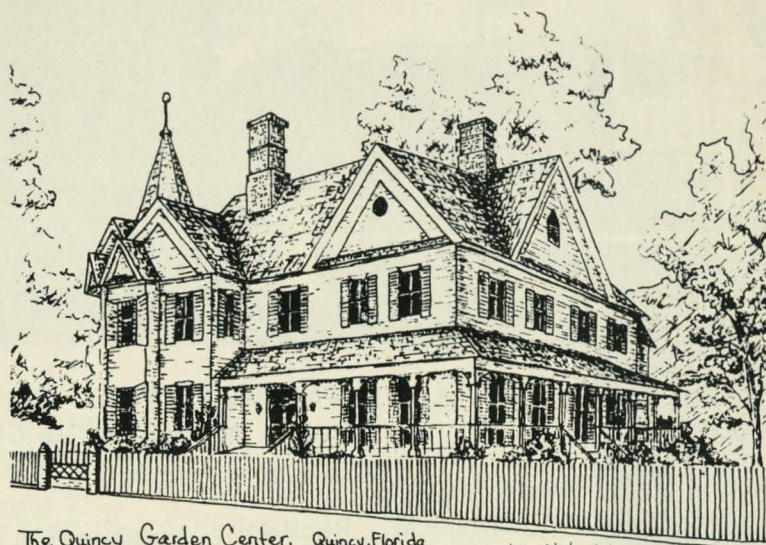

Munroe Home is New Garden Center

With bagpipes piping for kilted clansmen from Scotland and all around, Julia Woodward wore the sash of the Munroe plaid at the dedication of the Mark W. (Pat) Munroe family house as headquarters of the Quincy, Fla. Garden Club on Sept. 25. To be used by the City of Quincy, Fla., the house will be supported by an endowment from the Munroe family.

Mayor Leon Weaver welcomed the more than 200 guests, with responses from the Chief of the USA Clan Munroe, James Munroe, of Va., and the Chief of Clan Munroe, Capt. Patrick Munroe, from RossShire, Scotland. Julia, a Trustee of Wesleyan and winner of an Alumnae Award for Distinguished Service to the College, made the closing remarks, after the dedication by Circuit Judge Ben C. Willis and presentation of a plaque. Julia is the only one of her father's 18 children still living in Quincy.

A series of gala parties marked the reunion, which went on for days, with the Laird, himself, there from Scotland, to enjoy it all.

The Quincy Garden Center, Quincy, Florida

Kelly Bracken, 1975

Built by Mark W. Munroe in 1893

Radio Tape on Freud

Dr. Donald S. Stanton, vice president for development at Wesleyan College, has been invited to tape a radio interview on Sigmund Freud for broadcast on Austrian Radio in 1977.

Dr. Stanton's interview will be part of a Bicentennial salute to Austrians who have made significant contributions to American medicine. The broadcast will originate in Vienna and will reach Poland, Czechoslovakia, Hungary and other countries.

During the summers of 1969-1971 Dr. Stanton taught courses on the work of psychoanalysts to European and American students in Austria. He and the students met with several leading European psychologists, psychoanalysts and child therapists in Austria, Yugoslavia and Hungary and attended an international psychoanalytic conference in Vienna.

Two Seminars Set by Alumnae

Two One-day Seminars will be sponsored by the Wesleyan Alumnae Association at the Candler Alumnae Center.

Friday, January 28, 1977
 "ELT"—Effective Leadership Training
 A Concern for Women as Leaders
 Learning to Communicate As A Leader and As A Person

Major Areas—Individual, Group, Community

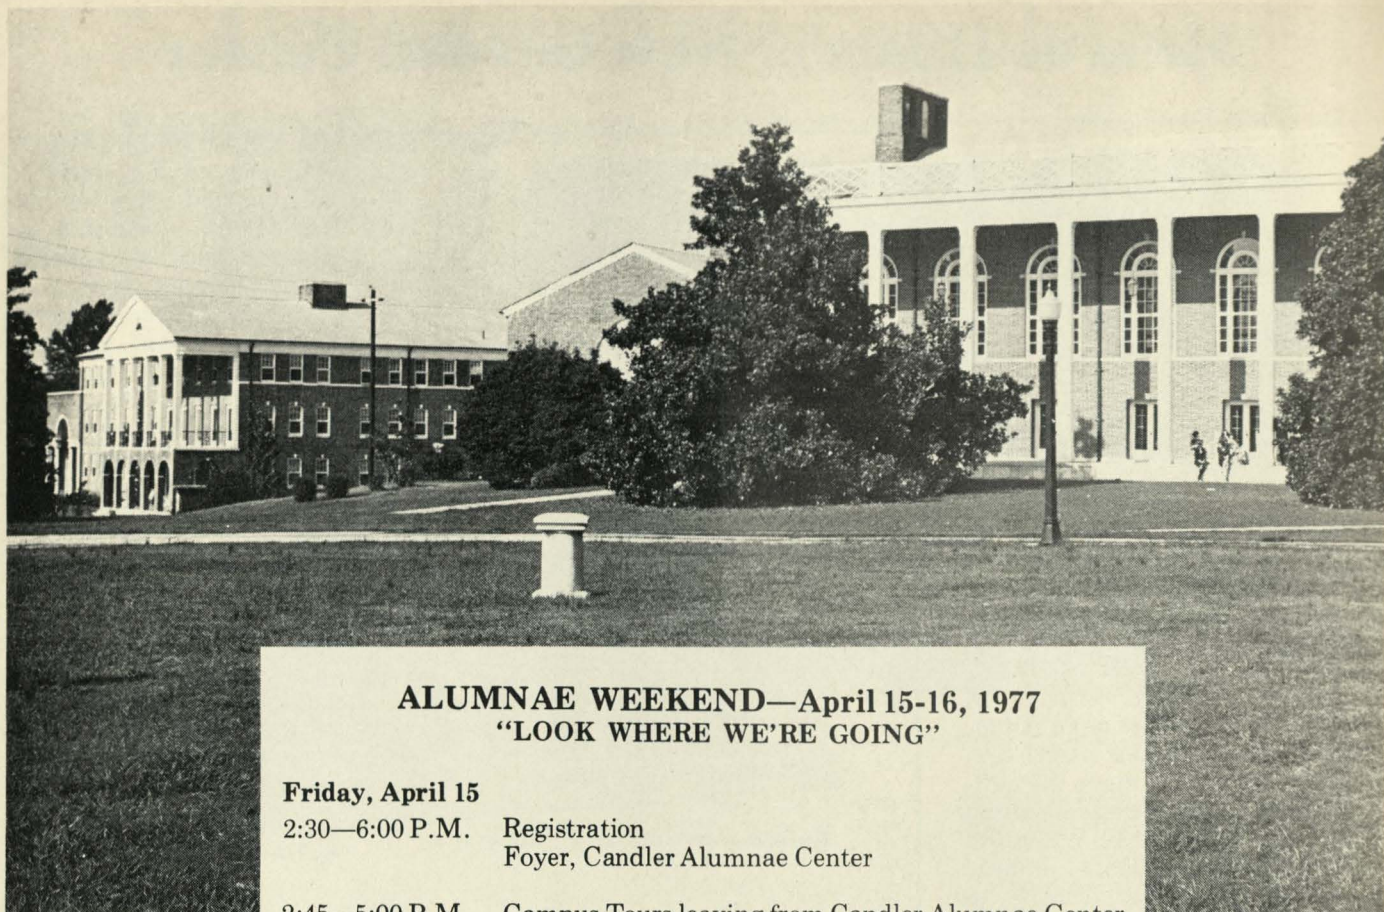

Saturday, January 29, 1977
 "Independence through Financial Planning"
Major Areas—Investments, Insurance, Retirement Income, Dealing with I.R.S., Legal Matters, and Banking

Time: 9:30 A.M.—3:00 P.M. each day
 Cost: $6.00 for each seminar
 $12.00 total for two days
 (Includes lunch at Wesleyan)

Make check payable to Wesleyan College

Contact:

Alumnae Office
 Wesleyan College
 Macon, Georgia 31201
 Telephone 912-477-1110

ALUMNAE WEEKEND—April 15-16, 1977

“LOOK WHERE WE’RE GOING”

Friday, April 15

- 2:30—6:00 P.M. Registration
Foyer, Candler Alumnae Center
- 2:45—5:00 P.M. Campus Tours leaving from Candler Alumnae Center
1. Walking Tour
2. Shuttle Bus Tour—Refreshments at Cabin
- 5:00 P.M. President’s Reception—Hinton Lounge
- 6:00 P.M. Picnic Buffet—Mount Vernon Porch
7:30 P.M. “Look Where We’re Going”
Oval Hall, Candler Alumnae Center
- 9:00 P.M. Reunion Parties

Saturday, April 16

- 8:15 A.M. Old Fashioned Breakfast
Manget Dining Room (overflow in Anderson)
- 9:00 A.M. Registration
Foyer, Candler Alumnae Center
- 10:00 A.M. Seniors and Candlelighters Assemble
Oval Hall, Candler Alumnae Center (second floor)
- 11:00 A.M. Annual Meeting of Alumnae Association
Porter Memorial Auditorium
Candlelighting Service
Awards Presentation
- 1:00 P.M. Luncheon for Seniors and Alumnae
Anderson Dining Room
- 2:15 P.M. Reunion Pictures
Mt. Vernon Porch

REUNION CLASSES

1902	1930	1958
1907	1942 (Jade)	1959
1908	1946	1960
1909	1947	1961
1922	1948	1975
1927 (Golden)	1952 (Silver)	1976

ALUMNAE WEEKEND REGISTRATION FORM

April 15-16, 1977

(Send to Alumnae Office by April 11, 1977)

Friday, April 15

		How many	Amt Pd.
Activities, including Buffet	$5.00	_____	_____
2:45-5:00 P.M. Campus tours		_____	_____
5:00 P.M. President's Reception		_____	_____
6:00 P.M. Outdoor Buffet		_____	_____
8:30 P.M. Refreshments		_____	_____

Saturday, April 16

8:15 A.M. Old Fashioned Breakfast	2.00	_____	_____
1:00 P.M. Luncheon	4.00	_____	_____
	$11.00 Total	_____	_____

Please check if you will be taking one or both of the campus tours. Newly renovated Tate will be included on both tours.

Tour I - Walking tour to buildings on front campus. _____

Tour II - Tour Tate, then shuttle to new Learning Center, Art Building, Infirmary, Lake, Anderson Cabin. _____

Name _____ Spouse _____

Maiden Name _____ Class _____

Address _____

 Make check payable to Wesleyan Alumnae Asso.
 Send to Alumnae Office,
 Wesleyan College, Macon,
 Ga. 31201

When Mary Beth Busbee, wife of the Governor, was at Wesleyan as keynote speaker for the Georgia Women's Forum, she was interviewed by Debbie Newby, '75, reporter for the Macon Telegraph. In Dec. Debbie interviewed "Miss Lillian" Carter, in Ft. Valley, Ga.

"Miss Octavia" Burden Stewart, '06, (seated), celebrated her 90th birthday Oct. 2 in the Burden Parlor, established in 1942 by her family and recently redecorated through her generosity. Standing: Linda Anderson Lane, Richard Domingos, Alice Domingos, Roy Domingos, and Mildred Taylor Stevens.

The writing hands of Dr. Samuel Luttrell Akers were kept busy autographing at the party in his honor in the Benson Room

Alumnae Director Frances Van Horn and Librarian Tena Roberts peruse Akers book

Dr. Samuel Luttrell Akers wrote the book. Now he's writing autographs. Dr. Sam has signed his name, along with personal messages, on hundreds of copies of "The First Hundred Years of Wesleyan College". Scores of friends and former students turned out for the autograph party in his honor, given in the Candler Alumnae Center on the afternoon of Dec. 8. He and his wife, Lib, wearing camellias, accepted congratulations from men and women who came to buy the book or to pick up copies ordered in advance.

The publisher, Mills Lane IV, whose Beehive Press produced the attractive volume, wrote Dr. Akers he was proud to know him, and was cheering him in Savannah while he was busy with his fans in Macon.

Orders for the book may be placed by sending a check for $15.00 to the Office of the President, Wesleyan College, Macon, Ga. 31201.

NOW IS THE TIME...

Clip here and mail

BOOK ORDER BLANK

First Hundred Years of Wesleyan College By Dr. Samuel L. Akers

Please reserve for me _____ copy (copies) at $15.00 each

Check is enclosed for $_____, made out to Wesleyan College and marked "for Akers book".

Send coupon and check to:

The President, Wesleyan College, Macon, Ga. 31201

1

2

4

5

7

8

3

6

9

Alumnae Meet

Wesleyan Alumnae in many areas have been meeting this fall. Others are planning meetings or prospective student parties in the near future.

Dr. and Mrs. Donald Stanton, Alumnae Director Frances Van Horn and President Sandi Shipp met with alumnae and trustees in Birmingham, Montgomery, and Mobile, Alabama; Pensacola and Panama City, Florida; and Albany and Moultrie, Georgia.

Dr. W. Earl Strickland, Dr. Oscar Page and Mrs. Joyce Schafer went to meetings in Columbia and Greenville, South Carolina, Greensboro and Charlotte, North Carolina. Dr. and Mrs. Strickland had lunch with alumnae in the Washington, D. C. area.

Other meetings have been in Little Rock, Ark.; Baltimore, Md.; Nashville, Tenn.; Brunswick, Ga., Atlanta and Macon, Ga. Japan has held its second meeting and is planning another one soon.

Alumnae-sponsored prospective student parties are planned for Macon, Columbus, Atlanta, Jacksonville, Tampa and Lakeland.

Atlanta's Group IV has brought out a most attractive little booklet of its programs for the year. Entitled "Potpourri", it lists their meeting dates, second Sat. monthly, with names of those responsible for program.

A Student Alumnae Group has been activated. They planned the memorial for Evelyn Wright Banks, in the fall.

1. Albany: Rev. George Zorn, trustee, by Sandi Bell Shipp.
2. Moultrie: Trustee Bob Wright, with mother, Bernice Wright Wright, '15, and sister, Harriet Wright Sutton, '37.
3. Albany: Dr. Don Stanton VP for development tete a tete.
4. Birmingham was full of smiles.
5. Birmingham: Alumnae Director Frances Van Horn (center) took alumnae Wedgwood plates to the hostesses.
6. Moultrie: The spirit was good—and so was the food.
7. Pensacola: Don Stanton again, and his wife Barbie, at the apex of the group.
8. Montgomery girls gave a brunch.
9. Panama City: The house and gardens lent a Florida touch.

FLIPPY

Hair styles come and go—and come again—as shown by Florence Siddon Gautier, '45, chairman of her Macon Group

FLO

A Spanish comb adds a touch of the past on Florence Bloodworth Mellard, '61, of Gray, Ga., new secretary of the alumnae assn.

WHO?

This Photo, part of the alumnae museum collection, rests in a case in the Benson Room. We don't know who she is. Do you?

Cynthia McMullen, last year's Editor-in-Chief of Times and Challenge, student newspaper, has been appointed director of information services at Wesleyan. She succeeds Linda Plott, who left to get married

Youngest Lucia (Chapman, '77) is president of Student Government and serves as Student Trustee. She is the fifth Lucia in a direct line to attend Wesleyan. With her here are her mother, Lucia Domingos Chapman, '48, Mobile, Ala., and her grandmother, Lucia Chappell Domingos, Macon, '18 and '19, former Alumnae Trustee. Photos show earlier Lucias

NATIONAL OFFICERS

1976-1979

President	Mrs. B. Robert Shipp (Sandra Bell) '66
First VP	Mrs. J. Otey Walker, III (Susan Woodward) '70
Second VP	Mrs. Donald A. Barkley (Laura Sullivan) '68
Third VP	Mrs. Dennis Beall (Edwina Hall) '53
Fourth VP	Miss Debra Stockton AB '76
Secretary	Mrs. W. L. Mellard (Florabelle Bloodworth) '61
Treasurer	Mrs. W. H. Burns (Rosalind Allison) '47
Past President	Mrs. David L. Richardson (Jackie Davis) '60
Alumnae Dir.	Mrs. Richard Van Horn (Frances Bruce) '53
Ass't. to Dir.	Miss Alice Domingos '40
Alumnae Editor	Mrs. Charles E. Nadler (Freda Kaplan) '26
Members at Large	Mrs. Rufus Green (Jane Mulkey) '42 Mrs. A. J. Swann, Jr. (Martha Bradford) '47 Mrs. Floyd Moon (Joy Coody) '64
Trustees	Mrs. Graham Ponder (Adelaide Wallace) '46 Mrs. M. P. Efland (Milderd Fincher) '42 Mrs. Bettijo Hogan Cook '48 (Photo to R.)

PRESIDENTS OF WESLEYAN ALUMNAE ASSOCIATION

1940-1976

1940-43	Mrs. Harold C. McKenzie (Sue Tanner) '18
1943-46	Mrs. A. L. Gilmore (Rosaline Jenkins) '19
1946-49	Mrs. J. C. Anderson (Annie Gantt) '13
1949-52	Mrs. Grover C. Jones (Florence Trimble) '20
1952-55	Mrs. Charles Nadler (Freda Kaplan) '26
1955-58	Mrs. A. Worth Hobby (Irene Sewell) '22
1958-61	Mrs. William McCowen (Virginia McClellan) '44
1961-64	Mrs. J. R. Webb, Jr. (Emily Hearn) '42
1964-67	Mrs. J. H. Whitehurst (Elaine Wood) '53
1967-70	Mrs. Rufus Green (Jane Mulkey) '42, '43
1970-73	Mrs. Wm. Dean Terrell (Nina Sheppard) '58
1973-76	Mrs. David Richardson (Jacquelyn Davis) '60
1976-79	Mrs. B. Robert Shipp (Sandra Bell) '66

Alumnae Awards

Alumnae will receive 1977 awards for Distinguished Service to the College and for Distinguished Achievement on annual Alumnae Day, April 16.

Nominations are now open for 1978 awards. These should be made on special blanks secured by writing to the Alumnae Office, Wesleyan. Anyone can nominate an award candidate.

The names are carefully considered by a special awards committee, and approved by the Alumnae Board of Managers. Deadline is Oct. 1, 1977.

Rebecca Caudill Ayars, '20, conceived the idea of Alumnae Awards when she was serving as a Trustee over 25 years ago. She wrote in The Wesleyan Alumnae, issue of Feb., 1950, the following:

Since the days of Catherine (Brewer) Benson Wesleyan alumnae have been distinguishing themselves in many different ways. The majority have married and became homemakers. Perhaps some have been just ordinary homemakers. . .

Then there are the teachers. (Will all Wesleyan alumnae who have at one time or another taught school raise their hands? See how many there are!) Again, the law of averages tells us that some of these must have been just "ordinary" teachers. And again, we have to be convinced that any teacher with a Wesleyan background can be just ordinary. . .

To call the roll of fields in which Wesleyan alumnae have served would be to begin at "a" and go to "z", art, aviation, business administration, ceramics, creative writing, dress design, journalism, law, medicine, music, nursing, radio, the stage, etc. All over the world, Wesleyan women are serving with distinction. . .

Nomination Blank

I nominate for the Alumnae Achievement Award:

I nominate for the Alumnae Service Award:

Signed: _____

Name: _____

Address: _____

(Please send me a nominations form)

They Had Fun In Hawaii Last July

Alumnae Took their Daughters and Friends

In New England

In September

2 New Alumnae Tours !

WESLEYAN ALUMNAE ASSOCIATION
to Sponsor TWO Tours

1. England in the Spring
Stately Homes and Gardens Tour
April 30-May 8, 1977—Atlanta
Departure $894—Deposit $100
($10 rebate if deposit arrives before January 31) Most meals included
Payable to World Travelog, Inc.

2. Alaska and Canada Cruise
Royal Viking Star-Norwegian registry
July 24-August 7, 1977—Departure
San Francisco—Rooms begin at $1,442.
Deposit $350—Payable to Thrandardt Travel Service
Space is limited

Write for information or brochure
Send deposit to:
Wesleyan Alumnae Asso.
Wesleyan College
Macon, Georgia 31201

CLASSNOTES

'06

Next Reunion in '80

LOULIE BARNETT, Lakeland, Fla. was honored on her 93rd birthday at the 11 o'clock service of College Heights United Methodist Church Sept. 19. This was followed by a reception in Fellowship Hall "because of what she has done with those 93 years." That Sunday was designated "Loulie Barnett Day", with a corsage, speeches, and many messages and gifts. Miss Loulie was lauded for her service to the church, her "willingness to be used where needed", for sharing her musical gifts, for her kindness, consideration, and unselfishness. An article about her life and works, with a four-column picture of her, sewing cancer pads, feeling for the needle because of failing eyesight, appeared in the Lakeland Ledger Sept. 18. "I do not feel that I merit the recognition I received", she wrote the Alumnae Office. "My more than 25 years at Wesleyan, first as a student and later as a teacher of piano meant more to me than I can ever express. I read NOW with much interest and rejoice in the continued success of my Alma Mater." She still serves as class pianist for the bible class named for her mother, still calls neighborhood children in to sing around her piano. At 91 she began working with the Cancer Bandage Workshop at the church. Daughter of a Methodist minister she says: "All my success I attribute to God's goodness and my heritage—the example set for me."

'08

ROSA WARD DANIEL, formerly of Tennille, Ga., wrote a good, informative letter to President Strickland, in which she said she hoped her great grandchildren would one day come to Wesleyan. She is living now in Lawrenceville, with the family of her son, a World War II veteran who died in 1975. She reported the passing of her niece, FRANCES ORLEAN CAMP, '25, on Sept. 11. "She was so dedicated to her church, to God and friends, and was so loved . . . She was born at Wesleyan. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James A. Camp lived in an apartment in the Old Conservatory when her father was Steward (dietitian now) of the dining room and kitchen, and buyer of food. After leaving Wesleyan she was graduated from St. Luke's Hospital in Jacksonville, a good record for a Wesleyanne. I feel that the time I spent at dear old Wesleyan gave me so much strength to fight the battle of life."

'09

Next Reunion in '77

LOUISE DAVIS DAVISON, Atlanta, has just completed a book, Methods for Teaching Children With Communicative Disorders (learning disabilities).

'12

Next Reunion in '81

ALICE DOMINGOS EVANS, Macon, wrote your Editor how much she appreciated being remembered on her 85th birthday. "I never dreamed I would live so long. But it has been a very full and happy long life."

'13

Next Reunion in '78

Our appreciation to KATHARINE PAYNE CARNES for her card with congratulations on the last magazine.

'16

Next Reunion in '81

ANNIE JULIA SHINGLER SHINGLER, Lake City, Fla., has 17 children, "grands", and "greatgrands", including four lawyers. She taught piano 45 years. Other "Wesleyan Shinglers" include BETTY DAVIS SHINGLER, '45, JULIA SHINGLER DUNAWAY, '69; and BECKY SHINGLER PIERCE, '76.

MYRTLE TALIAFERRO RANKIN, Macon, had two granddaughters to receive graduate degrees last commencement. Mrs. Robert White received her Doctorate in Anthropology from Duke U. She and her husband live in Boone, N.C., where she has been on the faculty of Appalachian U for two years. The same day her sister, Mrs. R.N. Hill, received her Master's in Piano from UNC. She and her husband, now working on his doctorate at Duke, both teach in Durham schools, she in the music department. They have two children. Myrtle and her husband went to Chapel Hill for her recital.

'17

Next Reunion in '77

Sympathy to MARY LANE MALLET, Jackson, Ga., on the death of her brother, Louis J. Lane, on Dec. 23.

Angeline Cunningham Stevens, daughter of RACHEL COWART CUNNINGHAM, Arlington, Ga., operates The Back Porch, first restaurant to be opened in Plains, Ga. Her two sons and a friend are the owners. Very southern with its hanging ferns, white lattice, revolving ceiling fans, it is located on Main street. Mrs. Strickland and your Editor ate lunch there the week the ribbon was cut by Rosalynn Carter.

'21

Next Reunion in '79

Sympathy to MAUDE BRADLEY LEE, Macon, on the loss of her sister, Clara Bradley Porter, last June.

ELLAMAE ELLIS LEAGUE: "Born in Macon. My mother attended Wesleyan. Her mother attended Wesleyan. I am an architect, interested in theatre, travelling, my children, and grandchildren." Ellamae could have included much more, honors and distinctions she has won over the years, when your Editor asked for facts about her, during the alumnae tour of New England. Ellamae, in a red coat, was much sought after for her knowledge on architecture and decor.

'22

Next Reunion in '77

ESTHER KIM HERR, Inglewood, Calif.

wrote expressing appreciation for the "beautiful 1836 Club paper weight. I shall cherish this lovely gift from our dear old Wesleyan alumnae club as long as I live . . . Wesleyan means so much to me . . . and wonderful Wesleyan College NOW."

LOUISE WALTERS JOHNSTON, Alma, Ga., has had the pleasure of seeing her son Paul on TV several times, when a film in which he was a star performer was shown on NBC. Paul was assistant to Marlin Perkins, of the Wild Kingdom show, when he came to Waycross to film "The Okefenokee Swamp." Paul is with the State Dept. of Human Resources, State Fish and Game division, in Waycross. He was named Ranger of the Year for the State of Georgia in 1970.

'23

Next Reunion in '78

REBEKAH OLIPHANT ANTHONY, Valdosta, Ga., was an interesting and interested participant in the alumnae New England tour. Becky earned her Master's in English from Emory, taught freshman English and Sophomore Lit at Wesleyan before she married the Rev. Mack Anthony, now deceased. She teaches two adult church school classes and Bible in her Circle, enjoys reading and her progeny. She has three sons, seven grandchildren. One granddaughter attended Wesleyan two years. "I have two others headed that way, and four grandsons of mine would make A-1 husbands for future Wesleyan girls. Come to see me when you pass my way. Her sisters were graduated from the Oldest and Best: MARY LEE OLIPHANT BROWN, '09, and JEAN OLIPHANT RENTZ, '17.

'24

Next Reunion in '79

ARLINE HARRIS, Atlanta, was on duty at the High Museum when your Editor visited the cultural center in Aug. She reported that she had seen IRENE SEWELL HOBBY that week and that her eyes were better.

LUCIA SAMMONS GREEN and her husband Jim, Orangeburg, S. C., celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary on November 10th, honored by their children, Lucia Green Keenan and James M. Green III and eight grandchildren.

AURELIA COOPER EVANS, Perry, Ga., wrote: "I had such a nice surprise when I opened a package to find a lovely paper weight which you sent to me as a member of the 1836 club." Aurelia is president of the Perry 1744 Club, AARP.

'26

Next Reunion in '81

CARRIE LOU ALLGOOD, Washington, D.C.: "I enjoyed every minute of the Alumnae Weekend. It lived up to Wesleyan's high standards in every respect. Now that the class picture has come I can look at each person and have my own 'hello' for each one . . . I wish Mamie Harmon could have come. I'm so proud to keep my certificate of Fifty Golden Years and the lovely pin. The Fashion Show was a great success. I loved the Charleston and the dress . . . Wesleyan College NOW is more delightful with every issue."

LUCILE RADNEY NEWTON, Decatur, Ga. wrote how much she enjoyed the 50th reunion of her class, also the report in the alumnae magazine. "It was good old times", she said. Lucile was active in the Purple Elephant Sale of the Atlanta Club, Oct. 22.

ETHEL ROSENBERG BASS was sorry to miss her 50th reunion. She was in a nursing home with a broken ankle. Last Aug. she and her daughter moved from the latter's home in Monroe, La., to Kissimmee, Fla., where Ethel and her late husband lived for four years after their marriage. They occupy the 80-year-old Bass homestead. Ethel contemplated cataract surgery in Sept. in Orlando, with a contact lens implant. She inquired after LAVADA HARPER EVERS. Of the alumnae magazine she wrote: "I devoured every word of it, as I always do . . . Although I was graduated from Peabody after three years at Wesleyan, I still miss the Wesleyan contacts."

EMILY BROWN RUMBLE, Holly Bluff, Ga., wrote of "the grand time this group had on Alumnae Day. I feel sure no other class ever had such a marvelous reunion as we did. You certainly planned and executed your plans perfectly!"

KATHERINE (K) WALKER McELHENY, Dallas, Tex., unable to return for her 50th reunion because of prior commitments, loved the picture of her class. "Still hope to get back to a later one. Know it will not be the same but will be fun." Last summer K visited her daughter Kay for a month in St. Paul, Minn., especially enjoying her 2-year-old grandson, Jan (Yon), and planned to return for a month in the fall. She was expecting the young folks to spend Christmas with her. With her compliments on NOW she wrote: "Shades of Miss Garner, huh?"

Sympathy to FRANCES CATER SNOW, Macon, and other members of the family, on the death of her sister, CAROLYN (KITTY) CATER JONES. Frank Cater Jones, Wesleyan Trustee and attorney, is a son.

FREDA KAPLAN NADLER, Macon, Editor of NOW, was author of an article published in the Atlanta Journal and Constitution Sunday Magazine Nov. 14. Entitled "Pat Lewis Loves Islands" it described a trip to the Galapagos and other islands taken by Mrs. Lewis, assistant professor of biology at Wesleyan, and groups of students. Freda served as escort for the alumnae tour of New England in Sept. She also went to Maryland and New Mexico as a member of Jimmy Carter's Peanut Brigade.

'27 Next Reunion in '77 VIRGINIA McJENKIN and SARA JONES, '23, Atlanta, and two friends suffered a bad accident en route from Clarksville to Helen, Ga., when their car was struck by a hit-and-run drunk. Virginia's right leg was broken (according to MABEL CAMPBELL GIBSON, '25, who sent the news to the Alumnae Office) requiring a 30 pound cast. She developed respiratory trouble and was kept in intensive care at Piedmont Hospital. Mabel reported she was better.

'28 Next Reunion in '78 VIRGINIA BANKS ST. JOHN, Newnan, Ga., wrote of NOW: "Each edition is most informative and interesting. This one had a very special place in my heart. Your tribute to Cousin Evelyn (Banks) and the resolution was appropriate and lovely . . . It was most fitting to dedicate this issue to the memory of Jennie (Manget). In many ways she was Wesleyan. What would we do without people who give themselves and their money. Miss Broome was one of my favorite teachers, with a personal interest in me. She took me home afternoons to help me with my Spanish. That's why I love Wesleyan doubly. It has always made me feel that I was somebody important enough to have a mission in life. Wish I could live up to it. I'm still trying, and every time I feel small, if I go back to Wesleyan for even a day I grow bigger."

PAULINE (POLLY) HUMPHREY, Cartersville, Ga. taught piano and the primary grade, after her graduation from the old Conservatory. She had a happy time on the alumnae New England tour.

INDUK PAHK sent an exciting greeting card which pictured her and daughter Iris standing in front of the new chapel of Induk Vocational High School in Seoul, Korea. Dedicated last June, the building seats 1200; its 175 benches, were made by the boys of the wood-working shop. Induk plans a tour to Korea in Sept. this year, so that her American friends may see the two schools of the Berea-in-Korea Foundation which she established. She welcomes scholarship funds. Her fourth book "The Cock Still Crows" is being published by Vantage Press.

MILDRED WARREN, Perry, Ga., whose "Art of Southern Cooking" is a bestseller, was pictured wearing a Japanese version of a cobbler apron, a "mama-san", in an article in the homemakers' section of the Macon Telegraph and News.

SARAH WILLINGHAM PIERCE, Wilburton, Okla., and her husband are missionaries among the choctaw and Chickasaw Indians of S.E. Oklahoma.

'29 Next Reunion in '79 Sympathy to KATHERINE McCAMY POWERS, Macon, on the death of her granddaughter.

'30 Next Reunion in '77 Dr. J. Mac Bell, husband of WINIFRED STILES BELL, Mobile, Ala., was featured in an article in the Press Register July 18 tracing the beginnings of Mobile's Children's Nutrition Clinic in the 1930's and '40's. Dr. Bell was instrumental in the founding and operation of the clinic, which was funded by the League originally in the old YWCA building. Dr. Bell and the League also established a dental clinic in 1932; League volunteers assisted the staffs of both clinics. "Generations of Mobilians know about those 'soft spots' in Dr. Bell's heart—and are grateful for them", said the newspaper. "He was the first physician to practice pediatrics in Mobile, and for over half a century Mobilians have been taking their problems—and those of their youngsters—to Dr. Bell." The Bells hosted an alumnae party when the Wesleyan "travellers" were in Mobile in October.

'31 Next Reunion in '81 ELIZABETH MOATE BAXTER retired in Oct. after 41 years with the metropolitan Atlanta United Way. She was honored at a luncheon by campaign volunteers who called themselves the Friends of Elizabeth Baxter Committee. A former school teacher, Elizabeth joined the United Way staff in 1935 as secretary to the executive director. "Any accomplishment or success I may have achieved in my career can be attributed in a large measure to the foundation laid and the background developed during my days as a student at Wesleyan. I shall always be grateful for that opportunity," she wrote Pres. Strickland.

Sympathy to CAROLINE PARSONS LESTER, Montezuma, Ga., on the death of her husband, James Lester, Jr., in Oct.

JULIA BELL PIERCE, Waycross, Ga., lost her physician husband in 1933. She has two daughters and a son, and 11 grandchildren. Her interests are church work, garden club, music club, and concert assn. "I love growing roses, playing golf, travel . . . This is a fun trip (the New England tour). You have been a great Mama Hen; let's go on another trip", she wrote your Editor, who served as Escort.

MARTHA MAYO LANE and her husband Harry, Nashville, Tenn. greatly enjoyed her 45th reunion on Alumnae Weekend. Martha has given to the museum a copy of the Adelpian Society's program of July 13, 1868. Her paternal grandmother, Mattie (Sarah Martha) McGregor and her twin, Mary McGregor, were listed as giving dialogues at the "exercises" of what later became ADPI. Prof. Sidney Lanier played sacred music on his flute. The original of this program was preserved by Eunice Thomson, class of 1869, and given to the College by her daughter, Eunice Thomson Whitehead, '94. The latter's great-niece and namesake, the late Eunice Thomson, '25, was alumnae Editor and Director succeeding Jennie Loyall Manget. Martha and Harry had as their houseguests LINDA ANDERSON LANE, '19, and her daughter, Linda, when the latter presented a piano program for the Centennial Club.

HELEN MANRY LOWE, Edison, Ga., called the alumnae tour of New England "a trip to remember." "There is something about a Wesleyan girl!", she wrote. "We are a breed apart!" Helen has travelled with Georgia bankers, also independently. She serves one morning a week as secretary to her pastor, plays the church organ. She has taught school, is a bank director. FRANCES RICE WARLICK, Cartersville, Ga., was among the group on the alumnae tour to New England. She has two daughters, two sons, four granddaughters and five grandsons.

MARTHA ANSLEY COOPER, Perry, Ga., is candidate for Librarian General. National Society DAR. The election will be this April.

'32

Next Reunion in '82

When ROBERTA CASON COX retired from the US Committee for UNICEF they presented her an honorary citation for her years of volunteer work and for her professional work as director of UNICEF Information Service in Washington, D.C. Her new address is Decatur, Ga.

MALENE LEE MORGAN, Macon, enjoyed two tours this fall, spending 8 days in Nova Scotia and 12 throughout New England, going as far north as Quebec.

MARY McCORD WALTHALL, S. Pasadena, Calif., visited campus with EVELYN THAXTON THRASHER, Macon, in Sept., thought the alumnae center beautiful.

EUGENIA RAWLS SEAWELL, New York and Denver, was the subject of a column by Susan Myrick in the Macon Telegraph in Nov. In Oct. Eugenia flew to Atlanta and went to Lovejoy to give "Tallulah on Politics" in a tent on the Talmadge farm. Then she flew to Plains for the picnic supper at Miss Lillian's Pond House, all at the invitation of Betty Talmadge who saw her show at the Kennedy Center last summer. She said her husband's paper was the only one in Colo. to support Carter. In New York she recorded her 107th Talking Book for the Blind, gave programs in Denver, Colorado Springs, and Pueblo, also in Washington, D.C. She was to record Lillian Smith's "Memory of a Large Christmas" for the National Public Library.

'33

Next Reunion in '81

DOT MANGET HOGAN, Nashville, Tenn., wrote: "The reunion of our class was great. About 14 of us arrived at different times, including HAZEL AUSTIN, JEWEL BURNLEY HOUSER, HELEN FLANDERS MOSELEY, ANN TUCKER COTTON, IDA YOUNG WALKER, KATHERINE SNOOKS WALKER, EDITH TARVER WALLENBURG, FLOY SIMPSON HOLLOMAN, THELMA HERNDON HOLMAN, CAROLYN RADFORD MORRIS, DR. ERNESTINE BLEDSOE, and MARGARET MURPHEY MARTIN, who entertained the class party. MARTHA BOSWELL HALL was unable to attend the reunion, but had eight of us to lunch the first morning, a lovely fun time. We hope we have a big turnout for our 50th! CHRISTINE QUILLIAN SEARCY, our class president, was absent and we missed her and others terribly. I had a wonderful time, with two grand visits with Uncle Fred Manget at his home."

PAULINE WILLINGHAM MOORE, and her husband, Dr. John Allen Moore, returned from a tour of missionary service in Europe. According to her sister, SARAH WILLINGHAM PIERCE, '28, of Wilburton, Okla., they have moved to Brownwood, Tex.

HALCIA CROSS MC GIRT, Albany, Ga.,

lost her husband Dec. 20, 1975. They were happily married for 40 years, she wrote. She has two married daughters, Halcia McLary (she has three children, the oldest 19) and Patricia Joffrion, who has two children as well as several foster children. "I remember more each day the dear friends while attending the old Conservatory."

Sympathy to BLOSSOM MALONE HENDERSON, Monticello, Ga., on the death last May of her sister, ANN KINGMAN MALONE BALLARD. Ann was known as "Mrs. Music" in Monticello.

JEAN EDWARDS BRANAN, Augusta, Ga., was sorry to miss Alumnae Weekend, she wrote when ordering an Akers book and a Prochaska engraving of Wesleyan.

FLORENCE WOOD KNIGHT, Wilmington, N.C., was incorrectly listed with the class of '51 as a contributor to Wesleyan. Excuse, please!

'34

Next Reunion in '80

CHARMIAN THOMSON MARVIN, Omaha, Neb., is director of the Omaha Research Service. Her husband retired in July after 40 years as night sports editor of the Omaha World-Herald. "I do not like to miss getting the Magazine", she wrote. "Back in the '30's I was one of Miss Jennie's girls who worked in the alumnae office. I typed up material for the magazine and loved working with her and Eunice Thomson. I also typed Dr. Gignilliat's doctoral thesis in odd moments . . . I have followed all the news of these dear people down through the years in the magazine and was saddened by the deaths of Eunice and Miss Jennie, both of whom gave so much of themselves to Wesleyan. When I was in school we had some charming Oriental girls, and I have often wondered where they are now."

FLORENCE WELDON SMITH, Decatur, Ga., did graduate work at UGA, worked 3 years in the field of social work, married in 1937. She has one son, one daughter, and 5 grandchildren. She enjoyed the alumnae sponsored trip to New England.

Sympathy to JAMIE TYSON DODD, Oceanside, N.Y., on the death of her mother Mrs. Jimmie Hatfield Tyson, last summer. "I treasure all the contacts we had at Wesleyan and the dear ones who were so gracious to express concern for me", wrote Jamie. "It was truly a long and lonely vigil. I feel we had a lovely farewell for her 82nd birthday." This gracious lady was a guest at the last Alumnae Weekend. Jamie was one of the models in the Fashion Show and her husband Grover was a most generous photographer.

ELIZABETH MOSELEY WILSON, Union Springs, Ala., sending her contribution to the Loyalty Fund, wrote: "I have not been back to Wesleyan. I know it has changed in appearance for the better. I've changed, too, but I have not aged as attractively! The magazine is excellent. I'm sure Miss Garner (whom I loved dearly and worked my head off to please) would approve."

MARTHA McCORD SLOCUMB, Macon, wrote very kindly of the June NOW. "It was so good to read about the class reunions and to see all of the pictures. I enjoyed every word of it, but most of all reading what was written about Miss Jennie. She was such a wonderful person and her name, to me, is synonymous with Wesleyan. She was my faculty advisor and she was so sweet and thoughtful I shall never forget her. She meant a lot to a 'scared little freshman'".

'37

Next Reunion in '80

I. LEROY DOMINGOS, Macon, is president of Macon's oldest department store, Burden, Smith and Co. This well known establishment, begun 110 years ago as a boot and shoe wholesaler, moved to a spacious new location on Cherry Street Plaza in downtown Macon Sept. 23. The Grand Opening was preceded with a special gala with six Wesleyan students modeling for civic leaders in the new elegance of the one-time Union Dry Goods Co. The store's opening has revived the downtown section of the city.

ROSE PEGLER PORTER, Waycross, Ga., taught English until recently. Rose's husband spared her for the New England trip, which she termed "lovely". She has a daughter, two sons, and a grandson.

SARAH HAMMONDS, Brunswick, Ga., loves "bridge, small dinner parties, walking, plays, concerts, and my Manchester—love all my travelling companions", she declared after the New England tour. Sarah taught school her first year out of college, has for 26 years been employed by Brunswick Pulp and Paper Co. She is manager of their communications (publicity, public relations, and editing the company newspaper). She is active in First Methodist and occasionally teaches Sunday School. She went home from the trip and broke her toe!

'39

Next Reunion in '79

Sympathy to MARTHA GRADY PITTS, Beaver Run Farms, Gray, Ga., on the death of her mother.

'40

Next Reunion in '79

EDWINA (DEDE) JOHNSTON BUSH, and her husband, Prof. P.D. Bush, Jr., have a new address in Warner Robins, Ga.

'41

Next Reunion in '79

WINNETT TURNER HOLT has published a book of poetry entitled "Scuppernong", the name taken from one of the longer poems of the book. She sent a copy to the Willet Library.

MARION MAJORS CRABTREE met with the alumnae group in Panama City, Fla.

CHRISTINE ROUNDTREE ANDERSON and her husband, Dr. John Anderson, Atlanta, have a daughter named Christine who has distinguished herself in the musical world. She recently gave a concert in Princeton, N.J. She is the niece of ELIZABETH ANDERSON RANKIN, '27.

'43

Next Reunion in '78

MARGARET NALLE MERRIAM,

Panama City, Fla., teaches American history at Bay High.

'44

Next Reunion in '78

MARTHA HARRISON MIDDLEBROOKS has moved to Atlanta where her husband is pastor of Druid Hills United Methodist Church.

GENEVA DAVIDSON BAIRD, Smyrna, Ga., is a high school librarian in Cobb county. She and husband Rentz have lived in E. Cobb county for 20 years. He has been an engineer at Lockheed for 25. Their children are Carol, a student at UGA school of law; Joyce, married and a nurse at S. Ga. Medical Center in Valdosta; Lyman, a student at Valdosta State; and Laura, a student at Kennesaw Junior College."

Sympathy to FRANCES BUSH WOOD, Macon, on the death of her mother, SARAH McLAIN BUSH, '16, in Dec., and to her daughter, SARAH HOLMES WINCHESTER, '74.

ALDA ALEXANDER HARPER is now associate professor in the Education Dept. at Ga. College.

'45

Next Reunion in '78

VIRGINIA HARRIS HOWARD, Smyrna, Ga., had a very eventful 1975. She and Lee became grandparents (Ginny Ann and Art had a son, Gilbert Henry); they took a course in hot air ballooning and landscaping; sons Tom (16) and Andy (married to Joyce) made 40 or more parachute jumps; with Tom they went to the Holy Land, followed by three days in Switzerland with a group from Atlanta First Methodist. "We rode a camel, waded in the Dead Sea, had a Sunday service on the Sea of Galilee; were baptized by the Jordan River, had Communion at the Garden Tomb—all a dream come true." Son Wallace and Lynn with 35 friends, were overnight visitors at year's end. "For breakfast we cleaned up a ham, 58 eggs, and 6 loaves of bread". Sympathy to the Howards on the death of their Mexican daughter, Erendira, killed in a car wreck near Mexico City.

Congratulations to MIRIAM WARREN CHYLINSKI LYKKE, Chicago, Ill., on the marriage of son Peer, to Janet Lucia Agnoletti, Elmwood, Ill., on Oct. 16.

'46

Next Reunion in '77

JOYCE GALLAGHER PATE, Pensacola, Fla., has been accepting congratulations on her son's winning the Canadian Open golf tourney, as well as the U.S. Open.

JEANNE GRAY ROMINE was awarded the MED degree by U of Miami on May 2. We don't have her home address. Can you help us?

LINA JONES ARNOLD, Hawkinsville, Ga., City Commissioner, was pictured and quoted in a series of articles on Georgia Women in Politics in the Macon Telegraph in Oct. She is the daughter of FLORENCE TRIMBLE JONES, '20, and mother of Florence Arnold, a senior, and Susan Arnold, '73.

'47

Next Reunion in '77

JANICE WALKER MILLER, Brookline, Mass., entertained the 25 members of the Bicentennial "Yankee Holiday" alumnae tour of New England during the three days they were in Boston. Janice is a decorator by profession and heads a company which fosters the use of art in industry. Her Georgian home is filled with paintings and other art objects. The spacious living room contains a grand piano; after tea a young couple played cello-piano duets to delight the guests. "The Wesleyan touch", said Janice of the musicale. Centerpiece on the tea table was a bowl of Georgia peaches topped by "Wesleyan purple and lavender" orchids grown by her husband in his home greenhouse. Her daughter, a young teacher, helped receive the guests, who thoroughly enjoyed the afternoon. PATTI HENRY, '76, working on a scientific project for Harvard, was a special guest.

MARY ELIZABETH LOCKWOOD, Brunswick, enclosed with her Challenge Gift "an extra one percent to grow on. I hope next year it will have to be doubled."

MARY JO THOMPSON, director of tours of the old Executive Mansion in Milledgeville, Ga. was the subject of a 6-column feature story with picture, in the Macon Telegraph recently. Ten governors lived in the Mansion before the capitol was moved to Atlanta in 1968. It was restored and beautifully furnished in 1967. The president of Georgia College occupies a private apartment there.

Sympathy to MAJORIE PERRY SANDEFER, Macon, on the death of her husband June 6.

SALLY BOWEN, Newnan, Ga., is a teacher in secondary education (Latin and history) at the Heritage School.

'48

Next Reunion in '77

MARI JAYNE BAIL TIDWELL, Cookeville, Tenn., teaches art at Putnam Co. Senior High school in winter and at the University in the summer. Her husband teaches physics at Tenn. Technological U, has been there 20 years. They have two sons, Robert, 26, an actor at Old West Dinner Theatre, Johnson City, Tenn., and Jim, 19, who is majoring in music at Tenn. Tech.

LUCIA DOMINGOS CHAPMAN, Mobile, Ala., is mother of Lucia Chapman, a senior and president of the Student Government Assn. at Wesleyan. As such young Lucia serves on the Board of Trustees. She was pictured and interviewed on how to run a student government in the Macon Telegraph Nov. 29. Lucia is the fifth generation of Lucias to attend Wesleyan. Her forebears are Lucia Griswold, 1860; Lucia Hardeman, 1896; Lucia Chappell Domingos, '19 (former alumnae trustee and now active in her alumnae group); and Mother Lucia.

AURELIA BOND ADAMS and a friend, Virginia Kemper, Macon, were on duty at Wesleyan for the League of Women Voters in an effort to get students to register to vote.

BETTY JANE HENDERSON SUDDUTH, Panama City, Fla., teaches fifth grade.

'49

Next Reunion in '77

EMMIE CARLTON JOHNSON is now in Perry where her minister husband was moved to the Methodist Church there. She lives next door to an alumna classmate, ELINOR TRUNNELL WHIPPLE. Emmie was among the throng of friends and admirers of Dr. Akers, at the autograph party for his book on Wesleyan's first hundred years.

MARION LEWIS GORDON, Macon, is the teacher of the first place winner of state piano competition, elementary division, of the Georgia Music Teachers assn. SUSAN THIGPEN McDUFFIE teaches the third place winner, and Susan's daughter, Margery, came in second.

BETSY HOPKINS FANCHER, Atlanta, has a new book, "Savannah", her third, recently published and getting impressive notices. Her other two are "Blue River", and "The Lost Legacy of Georgia's Golden Isles".

Sympathy to SARA STEWART ROUNTREE, Decatur, Ga., on the death of her father, Ben Stewart.

'50

Next Reunion in '80

ANNDINE RICHARDSON BENNETT, Tucker, Ga., has two sons and a daughter. She was glad to bump into the alumnae tourists on the New England Trip.

GIOVANNA CORSINI FENYES, and husband Adalberto, Florence, Italy, sent the very first holiday greeting received by the Alumnae Office.

DANA BEDGOOD JONES, Macon, played the comic role of the mother in the Macon Area Community Theatre's presentation of "Barefoot in the Park" in Dec.

'51

Next Reunion in '80

DR. MARY LEWIS served as coordinator of Jimmy Carter's issues task force on human welfare and poverty. She and other members of her group went to Plains for a briefing with Gov. Carter, held at "Miss Lillian's" Pond House. After this meeting last August she visited her sister, MARIAN LEWIS GORDON, '49, in Macon before going to Alabama to assume a new position as associate professor at the UALA School of Social Work. She became involved in Carter's campaign for the presidency last year while teaching at Catholic U in Washington and living in Alexandria, Va. She was elected a delegate to the Virginia State Democratic Convention. Mary won an Alumnae Award for Distinguished Achievement in social work last Spring.

MARTHA BANKS GADDIS, MONTGOMERY, Ala. "What a pleasure it was to attend my (gulp!) silver reunion this spring. I know I'll make 50!" Martha has been helping with student recruitment in her area, was happy to recommend Eva Lynn Gardner, Monroe County's Junior Miss and a classmate of Martha's son.

'52

Next Reunion in '77

VIRGINIA MOORE STANNARD, Greenville, S.C., and Kenneth have three children: Margaret, 15; Lisa, 13; and Scott, 10. Virginia is reference librarian at the Greenville County Library. Ken is an advanced manufacturing engineer at General Electric.

'53

Next Reunion in '78

DR. JANE CARY PECK has joined the faculty of Andover Newton Theological School, Newton Centre, Mass., as assistant professor in the department of Religion and Society. She was formerly research/resource associate in Women's Studies and Ethics at Harvard Divinity School. Jane's paper on "Successful Social Change in School Desegregation" was read at the annual meeting of the American Society of Christian Ethics in January, 1976. She has been very active in leading voluntary organizations with political and educational goals.

MARTHA BELL WHITE BARNETT has been teaching Spanish part time for three years in the Radner School District, Wayne, Pa. She wrote in July: ELSIE SUTHERLAND RAST was here in Valley Forge attending a 3-week seminar on government at the Freedom Foundation. Her youngest son, William, 12, stayed with us a week, and GRAY AYERS MANSINNE, from Washington and BETTY LOU BARBER MCCLURE and family came up for a day. We had a ball! Elsie's husband died of lung cancer last Dec. She lives with her two sons in Pelion, S.C., on a 400 acre farm, teaching school, and has just won the primary for County Council. Betty Lou has five girls; her oldest, Holly, just graduated from Wooster and enters Dickenson law school. Gray's husband works in the Pentagon heading a special investigations unit. They have four children . . . Last Dec. our oldest girl, Debbie, married a son of a Wesleyanne (his sister graduated there also). Debbie and Franklin Arnold live in W. Va. Betty Lou sang in the wedding (a dream come true for me!) and there were several Wesleyannes present . . . Their 19-year old daughter, after a year at college, spent the summer sewing Colonial costumes and driving carriages for tourists in Valley Forge Park; son Ken is 15, Martha Elizabeth is 12. "The friends I made at Wesleyan have been and will always be the dearest and best."

NORA GORDON CLARKE, Forsyth, is the wife of the president of the Georgia State Bar Assn. Harold was elected at the annual meeting in Savannah last June. He was one of the organizers of the State bar, served in the House of Representatives from Monroe County, has "consistently been associated with developments believed important to area progress", according to an appreciative editorial in the Macon newspaper.

JANE FENN FOSTER, W. Palm Beach, Fla., who served as a Challenger, wrote: "So glad to pay the extra 4% points!"

MAYSON THORNTON BISSELL, wrote: "What a thrill to see our daughter Lynn graduate from Wesleyan! The college photographer was so kind to take a picture of Lynn, my mother, Mrs. B. I. Thornton (CORNELIA TURNER, '30) and me . . . Enclosed is a check for the Loyalty Fund . . . Our son is a biology major at Georgia Southern College in Statesboro and our 13-year old, Wayne, is the only one left at home when he's not playing football, basketball, or baseball."

PATSYE MEADOWS HILL, Macon, is associated with McNair Realty Co., Inc.

'54

Next Reunion in '79

Sympathy to GWENDOLYN JACKSON LINDSEY, Waynesville, N.C., on the death of her father in June.

BETTY GAUNT BRYAN, Homestead, Fla., had as her guest in Oct. FRANCES STROHECKER, Macon, honorary alumna of '60. Frances reports that Betty's husband, Dr. Herbert H. Bryan, had been awarded the Florida Fruit and Vegetable Association's Annual Research Award. He received this most prestigious award for the work he has done in all phases of Florida agriculture. He is a horticulturist at the Agricultural Research and Education Center in Homestead.

'55

Next Reunion in '80

PHYLLIS CLOUGH DAVIS is the new First Lady of Florida Southern College, Lakeland, Fla. Her husband, Dr. Robert Davis, was inaugurated the 15th president Nov. 17 after seven years as president of Brevard (N.C.) College. The Tampa Tribune ran a big spread on both Davises the next day, with pictures. Phyllis is shown seated at a grand piano, and is quoted as saying that being a mother is very important to her.

ELIZABETH TRUITT FURLOW, Gainesville, Fla., had a luncheon June 12 for three new Wesleyannes.

NORMA (PETE) MOSS THOMAS has changed her name to Mrs. Ed Goethe. She still lives in Titusville, Fla. She has two lovely daughters, Lisa and Heather. Heather has opened a shop, Plants for Pleasure, for plant leasing.

'56

Next Reunion in '81

Sympathy to ARLINE ATKINS FINCH, Atlantis, Fla., on the death of her mother in Oct.

ELIZABETH COMER CLARK, Bloomfield Hills, Michigan, teaches language arts at Brookside School, elementary division of Cranbrook Schools. She has four children, Tim, 13; John, 15; Beth, 16; and Gil, 18. She is summer camp director at Upland Hills Farm Summer Day Camp, Oxford, Mich.

LINDA STONER WINSLETT, Columbia, S.C. would love to bring some prospective students to Wesleyan.

'57

Next Reunion in '82

MARIA HIGGINS is now commanding officer of the US Navy recruiting district in Raleigh, N.C. One of the few women to achieve this rank, Commander Higgins joined the Navy 20 years ago. She visited in Macon in July, at which time a feature with photograph of her appeared in the Telegraph and News.

GRETCHEN NELSON VANN, Panama City, Fla., teaches second grade, is the mother of two boys, 18 and 13.

NANCY A. HOWARD, is director of special education at Bellarmine College in Louisville, Ky. She received her PhD degree in special education in September from Peabody College, winner of the Xi scholarship given annually by Delta Kappa Gamma teachers' sorority. The $2500 award was made in June. Nancy has a MRED degree from Southern Baptist Theological Seminary, first woman graduate fellow. She was named Teacher of the Year at Peabody in 1973-74 and Outstanding Teacher of Children, 1974-75.

'58

Next Reunion in '77

Sympathy to CAROL JACKSON DUFFELL, Atlanta, on the death of her father last June.

JULIA STILLWELL KETCHUM, Syracuse, will be a visiting lecturer in United States Literature at Wesleyan during the spring quarter. She received her MA in English from Syracuse U, where her husband, Ralph, has been professor of American Studies and Public Affairs since 1963. Julia has taught at Japan Women's U and Tsuda College in Tokyo, U of Texas and Syracuse. She has participated in seminars and workshops through out the world. Her course at Wesleyan will be "Southern Women Writers".

JANE HOWARD REINMUTH, Pt. Muga, Calif., sent news of her sister, NANCY A. HOWARD. "We are all very proud of Nancy for having achieved so much with much hard work (See '57 Class Notes). I really enjoy the alumnae magazine so much. It is wonderful to be kept in touch with Wesleyan."

Sympathy to JOAN BENDER POWERS, Reston, Va., on the loss of her daughter in an automobile wreck, coming home from college.

'59

Next Reunion in '77

BETTE STRINGFIELD ATWELL, Pensacola, Fla., owns a specialty shop named I-Woman.

'60

Next Reunion in '77

VIRGINIA SUMMERFORD YORK, Panama City, Fla., has two children. She is president of Tyndall Officers Wives Club.

'61

Next Reunion in '77

MARTHA EVANS GREEN, Dublin, Ga., is state chairman, veteran patients service, Georgia Society, DAR.

HARRIETTE EVANS MYERS, PANAMA

City, Fla., is the mother of three. She serves as Field Director for Girl Scouts.

'62

Next Reunion in '78

DOTTIE RHODEN BAILEY has moved to Bradenton, Fla., where the Baileys are a resident family at Christian Retreat. Pete is an associate minister there. He and Dottie direct "inspiring sessions for the family". Their children, Shandra and Derek, participate in youth activities.

'63

Next Reunion in '78

RENATE BUTLER DAVIDS and Richard sent a beautiful card of greeting from Miami. She wrote: "Keith is becoming a super swimmer, working out over 2½ hours a day and competing in AAU meets on weekends. It's his own love, from watching televised Olympics. Erica 3½, wants to be a little mother herself. I've had my busiest year (interior decorator) doing company yachts in the Spirit of '76 colors, municipal bond offices here and in Palm Beach, doctors offices, homes, and condominiums."

MARY GOSS HUGHES, visiting her folks in Macon, lunched with JACKIE DAVIS RICHARDSON and KAREN CONNER SHOCKLEY. She is working on her Master's at U of Missouri. Her job is program planning for senior citizens. She had lunch recently with PAT JONES, who is with the U of Missouri Press.

ANN EWING SHUMAKER will be the alumnae contact for Columbia, S.C. Area. She has one child, Elizabeth Ann 5. She received a Master's Degree in 1972 and has taught 13 years. Her husband is a food broker.

'64

Next Reunion in '78

SUSAN LILLYMAN HYLAND, Baltimore, Md., was a visitor on campus last summer while motoring home from Disney World. With her were Debbie, 8½, and Peggy, 5½, and her mother, also some friends, Col. and MRS. J. W. HARPER, '44, and children. In Macon they saw MARY ELAINE HARPER, '69, and SOOZIE HARPER, '76. Susan's sister, JEANNE LILLYMAN GLENHILL, '68, lives in Culpepper, Va.

SUSAN WOODWARD WALKER teaches biology at Mercer U in Atlanta. She reported to your Editor from the Atlanta alumnae: "The color pictures in June NOW are great! Please keep using them! Somehow they bring the magazine to life. One woman from the 20's said, 'I look so much better in color. I don't look so old... It's good for the younger alumnae to know about the ones who served Wesleyan in the past, and to learn of memorials to them.'"

NANCY VAN AKEN, Shaker Heights, Ohio, wrote President and Mrs. Strickland: "Wesleyan still means a great deal to me. My four years there were among the happiest years of my life. I particularly cherish the friendship with all of the fine people associated with Wesleyan." Nancy teaches 7th grade in a junior high school 29 miles east of Cleveland. Her subject area, geography with an emphasis on Latin America, has prompted her to travel four times to Latin America. One summer she went to East Africa, spoke on the phone to MINDY BHULLAR SANDHU, '65, who was just leaving town. Last summer she was planning a trip to Hong Kong, has been back to campus three times.

'65

Next Reunion in '78

KATHRYNE MEEKS SANDERS has lived in Charlotte, N.C., for five years, where her husband, Rob, works in the R and D department of Celanese Fibers Co.; he is a technical dept. group leader with a PhD in Chemistry from Ga. Tech. Their twins, Pamela and David, are 5. Kathryn is in graduate school at Winthrop College, working toward a MED degree in reading. She hopes to return to teaching as a reading specialist.

CAROL (CASEY) THURMAN, Macon, sang the title role in the one-act opera, Suor Angelica (Sister Angelica), by Puccini, when it was presented on No. 11, along with Kurt Weill's "Down in the Valley".

'66

Next Reunion in '79

SANDI BELL SHIPP, Macon, president of the Wesleyan Alumnae Assn., won top prize, $200, in the first state-wide Microwave Cook Off ever held in the nation. On Sept. 18 Sandi's recipe for Mock Oyster Dip (made with broccoli and garlic cheese), captured first place in the 8th District in the appetizers and party foods categories, then went on to be the grand winner. Judges were national cooking authorities. Publicity in the Macon Telegraph and News, with the recipe, included a jumbo photo of Sandi stirring her dish.

CATHARINE BURNS LILES, Macon, showed acrylics and watercolors at the Southeastern Arts and Crafts Festival Nov. 13-14 at the Macon Coliseum.

SUSAN MIMS NEWKIRK, Columbia, S.C., received a BS in early childhood education from U of Ala. Her husband, grad of UGA, is a planner in the Heritage Trust Program in the S.C. Wildlife and Marine Resources Dept. They have a daughter, Susan Osborne Newkirk (Suzy), who was 3 last Sept. "My first taste of college will always be a very special memory", she wrote, "thanks to Wesleyan". She recently ran into her "big sister", NANCY TILER WAITE, '64, who also lives there.

MARGARET ANSLEY LOY has been living in Boise, Idaho, for three years, where she teaches second grade. She has a boy of 4.

PATRICIA GLASS THORPE, Morristown, N.J., wrote: "Those Loyalty Fund phone calls you are all making must be working! It was terrific talking to EVELYN KNIGHT last night—certainly stirred up very fond memories of Wesleyan and old friends. And it got my conscience working" (she enclosed a contribution, promising "more in the future. We have a 4½ year old future Wesleyanne to think about, so our support must improve! If there are any Wesleyan students, prospective students or alumnae in the Morris county area of New Jersey do let me know for I would like to get in touch with them."

AILEEN EVERAGE FERNANDEZ, Pensacola, Fla., wrote on the advent of her second son, she will have to be content with encouraging my nieces to choose Wesleyan for their college! As always, I look forward to all issues of NOW and especially class notes." (See births)

Fran Stewart Upton, '67, Evans, Ga., accepts an award from Lem Hewes, immediate past president of the Ga. Easter Seal Society. Fran was chairman of the Columbia Cty. Calico Carnival.

'67

Next Reunion in '77

FRAN STEWART UPTON, Evans, Ga., organized the Columbia County Calico Carnival which raised $9,500 for the Georgia Easter Seal Society. She went to Atlanta to present the check to Lem Hewes, immediate past president of the Society.

VIRGINIA SOWELL SIKES, formerly of Macon, has been appointed academic dean for the Durham branch of King's College, Durham, N.C. She was instructor for a year. Virginia received an MA in education administration from N. Florida U. She is married to Dr. James Sikes.

NANCY CONDES has moved from Melbourne, Fla. to San Mateo Calif., where she is director of Army Youth Activities, Oakland Army Base and Ft. Mason.

CYNTHIA WILSON HAUTH had Lakeland, Fla.'s first Bicentennial baby, first to be born that day (see births). Daddy Max is now the administrator of the nursing center, Florida United Presbyterian Homes, Inc., in Lakeland. It's wonderful to be back in Florida, she writes.

JUDY RAGLAND ARMSTRONG, White Plains, N.Y., writes: "I thoroughly enjoy the magazine and wish more of my classmates would send their news notes. I'm afraid the magazine is the only news I ever receive of a great many old friends." Judy and Chris "became doting parents on Mother's Day" (See Births).

KAREN HUGHES is a graduate student in ceramics at USC.

MARY DUNTER SHERIDAN is working on a Master's in guidance at U.S.C.

'68

Next Reunion in '78

KAY HAFNER AGNEW, Columbus, Ga., came to campus Oct. 27 bringing her daughter Beth, 8, and a senior from Spencer High, where she teaches. "We visited Jane Smith, a senior, whom I introduced to Wesleyan. This visit is such a joy. I saw dear Dr. Cowie again and sat in on Mr. Beckelheimer's Shakespeare class. Everything is at least as wonderful as I remember, and some things are even better."

BRENDA WILHOIT ELEBASH, Pensacola, Fla., is involved with her church, with Junior League, and with her two children, Melissa Ann, 7, and Perris, 3.

SUZANNE MOORE McGOVERN, San Jose, Calif., and Dane have been living in the Bay area for three years. (See Births) He is in public relations for the San Jose Community College District. She works as a publicist for the Santa Clara Unified School District. "We enjoy occasional visits from Wesleyan friends. We particularly enjoyed CATHY CUSHING THIERRY during her recent trip to San Francisco."

JEAN LILLYMAN GLADHILL, Crystal Lake, Ill. works with mentally retarded adults. She has one son.

HELEN JACKSON BURGIN, Columbus, Ga., wrote: "ANNE BANISTER ATTEBURG, SARA WALTERS INGRAM and I had a long visit together recently. Anne and Ed live in Reeding, Calif., and have two gift and card stores. Sara and Ben and young son live in Washington, D.C.; Ben is a major in the Army at Ft. McNair. Even though their parents live in Columbus it was the first 3-way visit we have had in four years. It was great fun talking over Wesleyan days and politics."

MARY ANN WARD DUDLEY, Douglas, Ga., has a new house and a new baby (See Births). She sent her Loyalty Fund contribution with "deepest appreciation to Wesleyan. It is my sincerest wish to one day be able to do significantly more."

'69

Next Reunion in '79

CINDY SAMFORD CANNON enjoyed the travelling group from Wesleyan who met with alumnae in Mobile, Ala. "I was so impressed with the changes since I was there,"... she wrote your Editor: "Maybe in the near future Ed and I will have a chance to see the additions, etc., and to visit with you, Mrs. Lane, the Stricklands, and the O'Neals. (See Births) "Mama is getting along fine—particularly since she is a grandmother."

MELISSA LANE THOMAS, Raleigh, N.C., was on campus for the memorial tribute to JENNIE LOYALL MANGET.

Her father, McKibben Lane, Jr., is a Trustee of Wesleyan.

SUSAN BYRD MATHEWS of Columbus (See Births) enjoys the magazine so much but wishes her class would send news.

ANN KINNICK KEANE lives in Danbury, Conn. with her two children. Husband Carey commutes to White Plains where he works for General Foods.

MARY ELAINE HARPER BERNARD, Macon, has two daughters.

KENDALL BARTON BURKE, Lake Worth, Fla. (See Births) has been working as a potter, a "far cry" from her biology major. Her husband, Bill, is an electronics technician for S. Fla. Flood Control Dist.

'70

Next Reunion in '80

KATE GOLDMAN GHOLSTON, Hollywood, Fla., wrote: "Dearest NOW, Once again I have moved! Joe and I have left Jacksonville and are now in Hollywood, Fla., where Joe is the District Manager of South Florida for Chrysler."

GAIL JASIEWICKI HIGBEE, '69, and I stopped at Wesleyan on our way back from a "girls only" trip to the Carolinas. We couldn't believe the Alumnae Center—it's beautiful. While on our trip we stayed for a while with BARBARA ROLAND COLWELL, '70, and spent hours poring over old Veterropts. Thank you for such lovely memories."

PEGGY PERSONS FOX, Jacksonville, and John have one daughter, Caroline, who celebrated her first birthday Aug. 30 Peggy retired last year after four years of teaching at Jacksonville Episcopal High and now devotes full time to her family. She is the Alumnae Link in Jacksonville.

PENELOPE SUE BEECHER, Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., is now Mrs. Collins, living in Statesboro, Ga.

PATRICIA KAY BEECHER, Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., is now Mrs. Knight, and lives in Decatur, Ga.

CAROLE LEE BYRD is still teaching private piano lessons at her new address, Niceville, Fla. (See Marriages), and has 45 pupils "thanks to all my training from Mr. Zimmerman and all the Wesleyan music department." Her husband is head pro at the local golf club.

JENNY KOPP CURL, with her 18-month old daughter moved back to Germany this past fall, where her husband is stationed. She sent President Strickland the name of a prospective student, was happy to hear from him and Wesleyan.

'71

Next Reunion in '81

JAN SHELNUTT WHALEN has moved to Alexandria, Va. Her husband, Andrew J. Whalen III is the staff attorney for the House Ethics Committee. Both are enjoying Washington. "It just killed me to miss Alumnae Weekend", she wrote. "If I had not been contagious I would have gone. Everyone said it was great. I have been teaching music for the past five years. I received my MM in '74. Now I spend my days sightseeing and job-hunting. EMILY BRISINDINE is also here, working for the House Ways and Means Committee. She had a lovely dinner and invited JANICE MAYS ('73), tax attorney for the House Ways and Means Committee; and SHARON MAYS, who is working on her PhD while teaching English and Literature at UGA; and MARGIE BOWEN, now dean of women at a college in S.C. We had a great time talking about the old times at the Oldest and Best."

Toni Jennings

When TONI JENNINGS was at her Reunion in May she was considering running for the Florida House of Representatives. One primary, one run-off, and one general election later she was successful. On Nov. 16 she took the oath in Tallahassee and became the youngest woman ever elected to the Florida Legislature. The Orlando Sentinel's Florida Magazine ran a four-page article Nov. 14, with Toni astride her bike on the cover, and a number of illustrations inside. Entitled "One Woman's Win", the introduction says: "Compared to others, Toni Jennings' campaign for the state house was not a colorful one. There was no hot rhetoric, no controversy, no mudslinging. Yet hers is the story of how one young woman with Miss America good looks and only a smattering of political know-how rose with relative ease in a few short months from political obscurity to a position of influence." Toni wrote your Editor: "I feel much of what I have been able to accomplish is a result of the education received at Wesleyan." In the article Toni tells of her education at Wesleyan, of her degree in elementary education. She taught fifth grade for two years at Killarney Elementary in Winter Park. Wesleyan is very proud of this young woman who joins the ranks of alumnae achievers.

CANDY SCHAFFNER ALGREN and husband Don live in Glendale a suburb of St. Louis, Mo., and would love to hear from Wesleyan friends living or visiting nearby. Don has been a police officer for 8 years, is a Sgt. in the juvenile division. Carrie Jane is 4 and Michael Donald is 2.

SETSUKE TAGUCHI, Kanazawa, Japan, wrote the Stricklands of a trip to Okinawa. "I was glad to find the article on our meeting in NOW, and at the same time it embarrassed me. I don't think I am a president. I'm just making arrangements for our gathering. None of us is president, or all of us may be president."

'72

Next Reunion in '82

ANNE BATES LEACH, honorary alumna, wrote your Editor to inquire about Mrs. Strickland, who is recuperating nicely following surgery. "How glad we are to have a Georgia boy in the White House." Her granddaughter, Zoe Anne Leach White and great grand, Berylanne Minor, are students at Wesleyan.

DR. SUSAN MOSES, Cordele, Ga., is enjoying her career in medicine. She received her MD degree from the Medical College of Georgia June 12, and on July 1 began work at the Oschner Clinic in New Orleans, La. as a first year resident in Obstetrics and Gynecology, first woman to be accepted. "I think of Wesleyan, professors, friends, and all, often and what it has meant to me."

DEBORAH MONCRIEF PRICE has moved to Vero Beach, Fla., where her husband, Dr. W. Robert Price, Jr., practices dentistry. Employed part time at Holland Learning Center doing psychological and educational evaluations, she awaited the birth of her second child in Dec.

EILEEN VICKERY is teaching at Clarkston High School in DeKalb County, Atlanta. She has an MED from Georgia State U.

ELIZABETH ROGERS KELLY, Jasper, Tenn., with her Loyalty Fund check, wrote: "It seems that the more time passes, the more I appreciate Wesleyan and all my memories of the happy times there."

DEBORAH JEAN RIX, Troy, Mich. (See Marriages), met her Paul at the Oakland County Republican Club, of which she was treasurer and he was newsletter editor. He is banking administrator for Chrysler Financial Corp. She is working on her Master's in Management at Oakland U, Rochester, Mich., while employed at a personal jewelry firm. She visited campus in July.

LISA McCABE WILSON has moved from Leesburg, Va. to Albany, Ga., and has a son (See Births). Her husband Davis is a labor market analyst with the Board of Labor Statistics. "I know there are many Albany alumnae—it's a shame we cannot get together. We could form a nice size chapter."

CAROLE WIDNEY GALIMORE, Batavia, Ohio, received her BS in Medical Technology, from Ga. State U. in June, 1973. After a short tour with the USAF in Sacramento, Calif., she and husband Don returned to Atlanta. She has been working in a 350 bed hospital, South Fulton, in the blood bank and bacteriology labs while Don was completing two Master's degrees at Ga. Tech, Industrial Management and Health systems. He finished in Aug., and is now with Medicus Systems, a hospital consultation firm in Cincinnati, Ohio. "I will begin job hunting in the near future. I have certainly enjoyed the alumnae magazine and newspaper. How about having a former classmate as daughter-in-law of the President?!!"

'73

Next Reunion in '78

MARY GRAHAM PONDER is a Delta stewardess based in Atlanta. She and her parents, brother Bill, and sister DOUGLAS PONDER, '74, spent three weeks together in Europe. Douglas lives in St. Simons, Ga., teaches public kindergarten in Brunswick. Mary Graham spent the day at Wesleyan with CARON CARTER when the latter came to speak at Wesleyan's first student assembly in the fall, during the presidential campaign.

HALE COBLE EDWARDS, Waterville, Me., wrote in Aug. that after a year and a half of interesting odd jobs after graduation she became assistant director of a new Swim Center in Anderson, which included teaching swimming in the public school system. Last May she resigned to marry (See Marriages). They planned to stay in Maine but came home to Albany, Ga. Sister Mary married and lived in Palm Springs, Calif., before being transferred to Sanford, Fla. "We both miss Wesleyan but manage to keep up through our sister Robin, a sophomore at Wesleyan, who spent the summer with Mary."

LINDA L. BROWN, Southern Pines, N.C. (See Marriages), after receiving her Master's in Librarianship from Emory in 1974 began working as a children's librarian. She plans and implements public library programs for children in five N.C. counties. "My days at Wesleyan will always be special to me because of the people."

DOTTIE WARREN BISHOP has moved from Alabaster, Ala. to New York, N.Y., where her husband, Lee, is working on his LL.M. degree in Taxation at New York U. He hopes to graduate around the first of June when they will return to their home in Albany, Ga.

NANETTE COCO, Hartford, Conn., and KARLYN STURMER, '74, took a two month tour of US national parks in the western states. "In our travels from Conn. to Oregon we visited some Wesleyannes, CAROL BACON KELSO, in Augusta, Ga., DEBBIE MAUND and DEBORAH GARDNER, in Atlanta.

KAY BARFIELD FREEMAN moved to Macon, where her husband, Howard, began studying at Mercer law school last fall. She works for Georgia Power Co.

'74

Next Reunion in '79

MARTHA JOHNSON, Charleston, S.C., visited the Alumnae Office in Oct. Martha designs instructional media, video films and slides, for Trident Tech College. She works with Industry (TV and radio) on productions by the Alecto Collective in producing documentaries.

MARY JO ASBELL YARBROUGH, Macon, is a case worker at the Masonic Home. She and son Ray, 5, have a hundred-year old house on Wimbish Road which she is restoring. After three years of marriage she and Gus were divorced just before her graduation.

GRACE HARRIS COOK, Perry, Ga., is in her third year of teaching English at Perry Junior High (8th and 9th grades). She is also working on her MED at Mercer.

GAIL DIXON MANN moved in July to Ft. Worth, Tex. She started studying at Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary, where husband Ned had already completed one year. Both are working toward the Master of Divinity degree.

DEBORAH GARDNER, Atlanta, sent a donation with the hope that "somewhere, somehow it will help the college."

CAMILLE REGAN is working on her Master's in counseling at U of S. Fla. in Tampa.

WANDA STRICKLAND received her MED from Mercer last June.

'75

Next Reunion in '80

YOKO HATTA (KAWARABAYASHI) (See marriages) met Tatsuo at ICU (International Christian U in Japan) when she gave a talk on her experiences at Wesleyan. The only seat at the reception, after, was next to him. Tatsuo had studied in the US in 1968 on a Fulbright; he earned his PhD and JH in economics at U of Kentucky, in Lexington, where he is now teaching. Yoko, after receiving her BA at ICU (her second, after Wesleyan's) taught English conversation to a group of business women and to a middle aged couple. "Some of the alumnae of Wesleyan got together at Setsuko's", she wrote, and we had a great time remembering how nice people at Wesleyan were and how much we enjoyed the spirit of Wesleyan. We said that we'd like to go back some day all together." Yoko came back to Wesleyan, with her husband, for Homecoming.

SELMA MIDDLEBROOKS has completed her MED at UGA and moved to Lawrenceville, Ga. where she is teaching EMR at Loganville Elementary School. Her parents (MARTHA HARRISON MIDDLEBROOKS, '44) are now in Atlanta where Mr. Middlebrooks is pastor of Druid Hills United Methodist Church.

NANCY MEARS LITTLEFIELD, Fayetteville, N.C., teaches 10th grade English at Seventy-First High School. Her husband, Dan, is stationed at Pope AFB, where he is a pilot for the USAF.

KARLYN STURMER has been living in Newton, Conn., since summer, working as psychiatric aide and counselor at Fairfield Hills Hospital in an alcohol detoxification ward.

DEBORAH BELL has moved to Savannah, Ga., where she is employed by the Board of Education as an elementary counselor. She completed her MED in Guidance and Counseling from UGA in Aug. She works with a relatively new program in two schools with 4th, 5th, 6th graders, finding it "quite a challenge. I like my work very much. I'm looking forward to visiting Wesleyan soon."

VIRGINIA CAROLINE SMITH GOFF, Valdosta, Ga. (See Marriages) writes: "I am very interested in everything about Wesleyan, proud to be an alumna, and would like to continue receiving news . . . also a current catalogue of Wesleyan. I have a friend very interested in enrolling in the fall of 1977."

'75—'76

Next Reunion in '81
SHARON WEBB lives in Atlanta, is working on her degree in Music Education at Georgia State.

PATTI HENRY lives in Jamaica Plain, Mass., is laboratory technician at Harvard's Medical School in Boston, Mass.

'76

Next Reunion in '81

As its parting gift to Wesleyan, the class of 1976 donated all proceeds from the sales of "The Wesleyan Graduate—The $13,000 Woman" T-shirts, plus personal donations, to the Fountain Fund; also, a marble slab saying "Class of 1976" was placed by the fountain.

SUE JOYCE, Macon, Ga. is working in management trainee program for Sears Department Stores.

MELINDA POOLE, Perry, Ga. is teaching 3rd grade at Beechwood Elementary School.

KAREN MILLER, Jonesboro, Ga. is teaching 1st grade at Mt. Zion Elementary School.

CATHY COVINGTON, Bartow, Fla. is working in a law firm office.

MARY JONES JOBSON, Charlotte, N.C. is teaching and working on Master's degree in learning disabilities.

DELIA TINNELL lives in Macon, is staff secretary for Clean Community Commission, a branch of "Keep America Beautiful" organization.

JANE GARDNER, Marietta, Ga. is admissions counselor for Reinhardt College in Waleska, Ga.

LIZ O'DONNELL STEWART enjoys work as a claims assistant for an insurance company in Louisville. "I do miss everyone", she wrote, regretting she could not return for Homecoming. "If there are any alumnae meetings up here I would be interested in getting together."

GINNA PRITCHARD ASHBY writes that she is enjoying married life and her new home in Nashville. She is substitute teaching.

NANCY WILLIAMSON, Bainbridge, Ga., has been serving since Aug. as an admissions counselor for Wesleyan.

JANICE CROMER HOLBROOK is teaching.

MARY KNIGHT ROBINSON, works in an Augusta bank.

LINDA THRASHER does designing and color separation of dress fabrics.

DOROTHY BUDD is a soprano with USC Opera Co. and sang Abigail in "The Crucible" and Nedda in "Pagliacci."

CANDACE BEARD teaches piano and guitar. She had her recital in the Candler Alumnae Center.

BECKY SHINGLER PIERCE teaches at Danford Elementary School in Macon.

LINDA WING is graduate student in Piano Performance at FSU.

CAROLYN FIELD, is a graduate student in Music Ed. at USC.

PEGGY MAYNARD CORBETT, Bainbridge, Ga., bumped into your Editor at a reception at the Mayor's office. She is expecting in Feb.

DESPINA (DEBBIE) KAVADAS wrote from Charlsottesville, Va., where she is working on her degree: "All my beautiful Christmases at Wesleyan will be cherished and remembered all my life. Graduate School is demanding but exhilarating. I hope to receive my Master's in Musicology in May, 1978. Had a wonderful summer studying in Boston and spent August in Greece". Debbie was missed at Homecoming.

DEBORAH JOHNSTON is a guidette for NBC in New York City. This is an 18-month training program, after which she will be assigned to a show. She was accepted at the Lee Strausberg Institute immediately, a compliment to her talent.

MELISSA WORLEY, Kennesaw, Ga., was crowned May Queen for 1976 by President Strickland. Melissa was editor of the Veterropt. She is the daughter of CAROL NORTHCUTT '52.

ANITA STERN is a graduate student at Queens College, in Queens, N.Y.

JACKIE HERRON GILMER, Macon, wife of Wesleyan's associate dean, received a bachelor's degree in early childhood education from Wesleyan on May 22, 17 years after she began her studies at Virginia Intermont College. She planned to teach and eventually enter Wesleyan's early childhood education graduate program. Jennifer is 14 and Kelley is 8. Jackie has joined an ever-increasing stream of "older" women whose education has been interrupted who have taken advantage of the entry-reentry program at the College.

SALLY IRWIN COULTER wrote from Miami, Fla., where her husband Fred, formerly on the music staff at Wesleyan, is now chairman of the theory-composition department, School of Music, at the U of Miami.

KATHY FORESTER is teaching English at Eastern Kentucky U, and working on her Master's.

CYNTHIA (CINDY) MC MULLEN, of Richmond, Va., began duties as director of Freshmen Jill and Jean, with Dad Ned A. Myers, at Father-Daughter dance. Mother Barbara is Alumnae Office secretary.

Sidney, 8, and Steven, 6, children of Sylvia Newton Summers, '64, Savannah

Neil Albert Struby, Jr., son of Hazel Burns Struby, '41, Macon.
His forebears are alumnae

Lane, 2, is Sylvia's "baby." Will she be a musician, like her mother?

information services at Wesleyan Jan. 3. Cindy was editor of Times and Challenge newspaper on campus, was winner of the alumnae scholarship for leadership. She replaces Linda Plott, who is to marry and move to Tennessee.

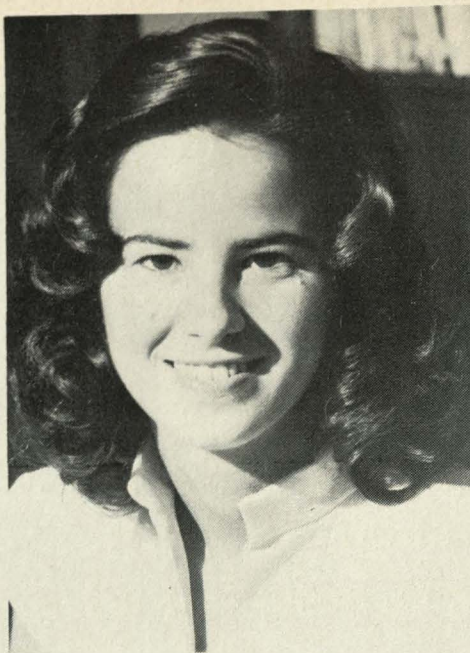

DELIA TINNELL works with the Macon-Bibb Clean Community Commission.

IT'S A BOY!

Mr. and Mrs. J. Otey Walker III (Susan Woodward, '70), Atlanta, announce the birth of a son, Robert Mark Thomas Walker, on Jan. 9. The baby, weighing 9½ pounds, arrived just at press time for NOW, on the birthday of your Editor.

IN THE WHITE HOUSE

Caron Griffin Carter, '73, and "Chip", of Plains, Ga., have moved to Washington, D.C. Will a future Wesleyanne be born in the White House in March?

BIRTHS

Dr. and Mrs. Toof Boone (Sylvia Wyllys, '60), Macon, are the proud parents, after 12 years, of another daughter, Anna Virginia, born Feb. 3. Like little Anna and Mary Catherine, Sylvia and her sister Susan are 12 years apart.

To Warren and Mary Jo Fincher Plowden, '68, Macon, a second daughter, Mary Elizabeth, in Oct. She has curly hair like her sister Caroline.

To Bill and Kendall Barton Burke, '65, a son, Joshua Travis Burke, Oct. 4. Zebediah is 3.

To David and Lisa McCave Wilson, '73, Leesburg, Ga., a son, Adam David, Dec. 23, 1975.

To Jack and Marlina Kawira Belstadt, '72, N. Tenawanda, N.Y., a son, Mark Benjamin, Oct. 19.

To Les and Gail Palmer Figa, '67, Florence, S.C., a second child, a girl, Paige Milka Figa, born in Aug. Son Laci was 2 in Oct.

To Michael and Rebecca Diane Harrison Smith, '69, Kennesaw, Ga., a second daughter, Keesha Diane, on Oct. 27. Shannon is 5. Rebecca retired to be a mother after teaching third grade at Kennesaw Elementary the past five years.

To Charles and Helen Jackson Burgin, '68, Columbus, Ga., a daughter, Helen Lovein, born July 4, "a true Liberty Belle". Brother Will, 2½, was a Valentine, born Feb. 14.

To Harold and Vicki Page Janus, '68, LaFayette, Ind., a second daughter, Margaret Nell, born Aug. 30. Sister Jennifer was 3 in June.

To Edward and Aileen Fernandez Everage, '66, Pensacola, Fla., a second son, Stephen Allen, Sept. 29, 1975. "Jeffrey is proud to be a brother, finally."

To Sherman and Mary Ward Dudley, '68, Douglas, Ga., a daughter, Mary Catherine, on April 25.

To Mr. and Mrs. Neil Albert Struby, (Hazel Burns, '41), Macon, a son, Neil Albert Struby, Jr., on July 13.

To Chris and Judy Ragland Armstrong, '67, Westchester, N.Y., a boy, Ian Scott (after Scots ancestors), on May 9. They became "doting parents" on Mother's Day.

To Sam and Susan Byrd Mathews, '69, Columbus, Ga., a son, James Madison (Jamie) Oct. 25, 1975.

To Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Jefferson Loftiss II (Deborah Lynn Hall, '71), Thomasville, Ga., Allison Marie, on Sept. 23. Jeff is an attorney with Altman, Williamson, McGraw, and Loftiss.

To John and Susan Sanders Mathews, '72, Montgomery, Ala., a boy, John Christopher Mathews III.

To Alan and Helen Cousar Wells, '64, Atlanta, Ga., a son, Alan Bradley Wells (Brad) on Oct. 20.

To Tommy and Marilyn Gosnell Gower, '70, Greenville, S.C., a girl, Meagan Pren-

READ, FILL IN, CLIP

Jan. 1977

QUESTIONNAIRE FOR WESLEYAN GRADUATES

The answers you give are very important to us because:

- (1) What you have done and are doing influences us in planning what we should do with and for present and future students.
- (2) Nowadays nearly all foundations and government agencies insist that, if we are to receive grants to help support our efforts, we tell them what our former students have done.
- (3) Like most colleges, we are always curious and interested in you, collectively and individually.

1. Name _____
Last Maiden First Middle
2. Year of graduation _____ Degree _____ Major _____
3. Address _____
4. Marital Status _____
5. Children _____
6. What is your current employment? _____
7. Did you apply for graduate or professional? ☐ Yes ☐ No
8. If you answered yes to #7, did you attend? ☐ Yes ☐ No
Name of school attended _____
9. Were you awarded a fellowship or assistanceship? ☐ Yes ☐ No
10. List any degrees (include name of school) awarded you since graduation from Wesleyan _____
11. Do you feel your education at Wesleyan adequately prepared you for:
a. graduate or professional school? _____
b. employment? _____
12. Please give in chronological order all jobs or positions you have held since graduation.

Position Title	Name or Type of Employer	Dates of Employment
13. What courses or fields that were not taught at Wesleyan would have been beneficial to you? _____
14. What were the most beneficial courses or fields you took at Wesleyan? _____
15. Comments: _____

Please clip and return to: Alumnae Association, Wesleyan College, Macon, Ga., 31201

tice, last March 16.

To Gerald and Lynn West Spencer, '70, Quitmas, Ga., a girl, Kimberly Ellen, in May last year.

To Ed and Cindy Samford Cannon, '69, Mobile, Ala., a son, Edmund Rasha Cannon, Jr., on May 9. He will be called "Race", after his great-grandfather.

To Max and Cynthia Wilson Hauth, '67, Lakeland, Fla. a second child, Eric Matthew, July 4, Lakeland's Bicentennial baby. Sister Ellen is 2.

To Albert and Eileen O'Neal Fritz, '74, Carmel, a girl, Amy Christine.

To Stan and Judy Oldham Boulay, '70, Aston, Pa., a baby, Jaime Erica, on Nov. 19.

To Carey and Ann Kinnick Keane, '69, Danbury, Conn., a girl, Jenny, on March 6. Brother Scott was 3.

To Dane and Suzanne Moore McGovern, '68, San Jose, Calif., a girl, Meridith Lee, on Sept. 6.

Yoko and Tatsuo

DECEASED

1906 Maie Dell Roberts Covington
1906 Viola Hawkins DeFrance
1908 Tracy Duncan Cohen
1908 Rosa Hicks Lawson
1909 Annie Drew Calhoun
1909 Annie Grace Brimberry Thompson
1910 Flossie White Ingram
1911 Ada Ruth Brigham
1911 Helen Mathews Luce
1913 Mabel Williams Clodfelter
1914 Annie Marchman Malone
1915 Lola Liddell Milam
1916 Sarah McLain Bush
1917 Carolyn Cater Jones
1917 Marian Elder Jones
1921 Kate Knox Withers
1925 Frances Camp
1928 Ruth Welch
1936 Isabella Landrum Williams
1951 Elizabeth Dykes Breland
1967 Judith Wilhelm Curl

CHINA SALE

Prices are going up after Alumnae Weekend!!! New price $7 per plate or $7 for cup and saucer. Sale priced at four (4) for $20 for either plate or cup and saucer—$40 for starter set of four place settings. Save $8 dollars now until Alumnae Weekend—April 15-16, 1977.

MARRIAGES

Yoko Kawarabayashi, '75 of Yokahama, Japan, to Dr. Tatsuo Hatta on July 11 at a small chapel of International Christian U. A reception followed. They are living in Lexington, Ky., where Tatsuo is an associate professor of economics.

Claire Ann Ulmer, '75-'76, East Lansing, Mich., to Richard Craig Standish, of Jackson, Mich., June 19 in Somerset Center (Mich) United Methodist Church. Christy Spruill and Becca Horn, both were among the attendants. Claire is a dental assistant in East Lansing; Rick is majoring in accounting at Michigan State U.

Laurie Anne Young, '75, Cocoa, Fla., to Bruce Wagner, April 16. Bruce is an artist, also a salesman for Lanier Business Producers.

Ruth Norman, '74, to Maurice Franklin Arnold, III, June 19 in West Point, Ga. She is a "Wesleyan product"—mother Carolyn Pharr Norman, attended Weleyan in 1942; her grandmother is Ruth Pinkston Norman, of Greenville, Ga., '09; greatgrandmother, the late Mary Patillo Norman, 1873. Frank's mother is Lina Jones Arnold, '46, and his grandmother is Florence Trimble Jones, '20. The wedding party included sisters Susan Lina Arnold, '73; Florence Arnold, '76; Debbie Hicks Arnold, '74; cousin Peggy Persons Fox, '70; also Missy Smith Rhino, '74; Becky Hendrix, '74; Meridith Lane Harvery, '75. Serving were Betsy Wakeford, '75; Rita Parker McGarrity, '75; Betty Jordan, '74; and Peggy Maynard Corbett, '76. The caterer was Mary Scott Barton Higgenbotham, of West Point, class of '27. Frank is attending Augusta Medical school and Ruth is teaching.

Carol Lee, '70, to A. C. (Butch) Byrd, Niceville, Fla. Butch is a professional golfer; Carol gives private piano lessons.

Hale Coble, '73, to Jim Edwards, a civil engineer, on May 29, Waterville, Me. They are now living in Ga. Mary Coble, '75, to Steve Kirby, Aug. 23. They were transferred from Palm Springs, Calif., to Sanford, Fla.

Roberta Oertel, '73, Huntsville, Ala., to Barry Lewis Freeman, June 26. The bride is employed by the Children's House of Montessori in Huntsville. The groom has his MA from the Dept. of Entomology, UGA.

Henny Craddock, '76, Hershey, Pa., to George Schoonover, Nov. 20.

Linda L. Brown, '73, Raleigh, N.C. plans to marry Harry G. Walker III in Gainesville, Fla. on Feb. 12.

Constance Burkhalter to Clifford Harold Hood, of Helen, Ga., on June 19. She teaches English in the White County High school; Cliff is City Manager for Helen.

Glenda Harkins Jordan, '72, to Dr. George Wesley Wills, Nov. 6. They are living in Atlanta, where George practices dentistry and Glenda is finishing her MEd in Gifted Education at GSU.

Virginia Carol Smith, Tifton, Ga., is now Mrs. Goff, living in Valdosta.

Deborah Jean Rix, '72, to Paul Andrew Hovance, of Charleston, S.C., on May 8 in Birmingham, Mich.

Ruth Norman, '74, was married in June to Frank Arnold. He is attending Augusta Medical school and she is teaching.

3
WESLEYAN COLLEGE, NOW
WESLEYAN COLLEGE
4760 Forsyth Road
Macon, Georgia 31201

47
Mrs. Corawayne W. Wright

LOOK WHERE WE'RE GOING!

Come back to Wesleyan, and see what's happening. Alumnae Weekend is April 15-16 in 1977. All come! Mark the red-letter dates on your calendar and plan to be there. A reservation blank is on page 11. Watch for the March NOW for more details.